Romulus teachers accept salary 'freeze'

In an unprecedented move, the Wayne County MEA/NEA this week has offered a proposal to the Romulus Board of Education that its members are willing to "freeze their wages for the 1982-83 school year."

School Superintendent William Bedell and various Board members have been urging such a gesture on the part of the teachers for several months.

At a recent meeting, the Romulus Parents' Area Council and representatives of "Our Community Counts" met with Romulus and Wayne County MEA/NEA teachers in an effort to discuss the economic plight of the School District and ask what teachers may do to help.

Chairpersons Howard Kesner and Roger Cadaret indicated their groups' hope that teachers might be able to help.

Sources close to negotiations indicated: "Teachers are beginning to understand the severity of the recession in Michigan. They also want the people of the community to understand that they do care about the kids education."

Exact details of the offer are not known, but it is known that the teachers offered to freeze wages for the year if the current contract is continued in all its part. This would include increases due under the old contract including such things as experience increments, degree changes, among other things. It is understood that the offer also

Lewkowicz vs. Drain Commissioner

Supreme Court may return $500,000 to area

Local officials are eagerly awaiting the outcome of a lawsuit that could return nearly $500,000 to six communities, including Romulus, Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron.

The case involves the then Romulus City Treasurer John Lewkowicz, who is presently serving on the Romulus City Council. Lewkowicz sued the Wayne County Drain Commissioner, Charles Youngblood, in July of 1976, arguing that the communities involved were not legally bound to pay the administrative costs for Youngblood's Department.

"As treasurer for the City of Romulus," Lewkowicz pointed out, "I was instrumental in July of 1976 in implementing and instituting a class action lawsuit against the Wayne County Drain Commissioner and the county of Wayne for improper and illegal drain assessments levied against the property of the taxpayers of several communities."

Lewkowicz said that those communities included: Romulus, Canton, Huron, Van Buren, Lincoln Park, Riverview and Brownstown Twp.

The Court of Appeals, in November of 1976, released its written opinion stating that, in effect, Lewkowicz was correct in bringing the action before the Wayne County Circuit Court rather than before the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Further litigation led to the Michigan Court of Appeals which upheld Lewkowicz' position and the Drain Commissioner took his arguments to the Supreme Court, which has promised to hand down a decision before the end of June.

In the meantime, approximately $500,000 has accumulated in the escrow fund and that fund is presently earning interest.

"We're hopeful that the Supreme Court will also decide in our favor," Lewkowicz said, "and that the money will be refunded, together with the interest, to the communities involved."

Lewkowicz said that "the case had major legal ramifications because it allows a treasurer of a community to withhold taxes from the county if the treasurer truly believes that the taxes were improperly assessed."

"I feel confident that the Supreme Court will decide in our favor — that the administrative costs for the Wayne County Drain Commissioner were illegally levied against these communities. That department's administrative costs should obviously come from the Wayne County budget and not from us," Lewkowicz added.

In Van Buren

Board recall is on

The question of whether the central figure in the lawsuit will appeal or not is moot at present, but Circuit Court Judge John Kirwan last week ruled that "there appears no legal reason why the Van Buren recall election should not be conducted."

The Circuit Judge was asked by Richard Debs through Debs' attorney to issue an injunction that would invalidate certain language on the recall petitions, which, Debs argued, "was embarrassing to himself and his family and also humiliating and would do irreparable harm."

Residents in Van Buren have petitioned the Wayne County Elections Commission to set a date to recall township supervisor Patricia Cullin, treasurer Tom Welty, clerk Doreen Craven, and trustees Chester Wojcie and Tim Toohey.

The controversial wording on the petition stated that the five board members approved Debs' "hiring and promotion to police commander without the adequate knowledge of his qualifications and background as required by minimum employment standards under Public Act 203."

Judge Kirwan ruled that "the fact is, the petition doesn't state Debs didn't meet qualifications. I rule the language is not sufficient to impinge on the constitutional right of citizens to seek a recall of public officials."

"However, the language did raise a political question that should be decided by the voters."

Ron Yurchak, who is the chairman of the recall drive, was happy

Romulus fire chief resigns

In a surprise announcement last week, Romulus Fire Chief John N. Wilhide submitted his resignation. "After giving the matter much consideration and thought," Chief Wilhide stated, "I have decided that I must resign as Chief of the Fire Department."

Wilhide said that he was resigning "due to the unfairness in salary and working conditions. I have been without a secretary since last fall and been without a fire inspector for almost two years."

"Both are vital for the efficient operation of the department due to the quantity of work that has to be done," Wilhide said.

Wilhide has headed the voluntary fire department for the past seven years. His resignation is effective June 25.

Romulus Mayor William Oakley

said that the department and city could be losing a very dedicated man.

"I appreciate the fact that you are giving us a month's notice," Oakley said, and on behalf of the residents of Romulus, thank you for your service to our city," Mayor Oakley concluded.

County finally wins one

Financially strapped Wayne County has won a one-mill exemption from the 12-year tax abatement program granted the General Motors new factory project in Hamtramck's Poletown, reports County Commissioner Paul G. Cutkowski.

Authorized by the City of Detroit Tax Increment Finance Authority (TIFA), the exemption means that the County will save about $1 million over the 12-year abatement period, said Cutkowski. He noted that the one-mill equals a similar exemption for the County by the Detroit Downtown Development Authority (DDA) which receives abated taxes for revitalization of the central business district.

Generally, tax abatement programs are a business uncentive, or

Cadaret seeks 37th District State Rep. seat

Saying he is "fed up with legislators who care more about the tax-takers than the taxpayers," Roger J. Cadaret has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for State Representative in the 37th District (Wayne, Van Buren, Belleville, Romulus, and part of Canton).

"All voters in Michigan have to ask themselves what their legislators have done for them while property taxes have skyrocketed and city and state income taxes have been raised.

"Our roads are a mess, many schools are on the verge of bankruptcy, but our welfare payments are so attractive they draw people from as far away as Florida. While jobs have been leaving Michigan, our legislature has made the burden heavier on those that have remained working. Who is representing the taxpayers?" Cadaret asked.

Cadaret, 37, who lives in Romulus with his wife and two children, feels that education, including job re-training, should be the number one state priority.

In 1981, he formed a citizens' group called "Our Community Counts Committee" and informed Romulus voters of the urgency and sensibility of bonding their schools' out of debt. He also served on the Citizen's School Finance Committee.

Cadaret, an Industrial Engineer and practicing attorney, graduated from Detroit College of Law where he won the schools prestigious Moot Court Competition.

He has worked as a Manager and Executive for General Motors for 17 years.

In 1980, he was loaned by General Motors to the U. S. Congress, he served on the House Ways and Means Committee Staff and concentrated on Social Security matters.

Of his unique experience, Cadaret says: "My experience with the U. S. Congress taught me that one man cannot change the system single handedly, but that someone who doesn't work hard every day and sincerely challenge what is wrong with the system will accomplish nothing. I think I have the talent, the energy, and most of all, the courage to challenge what's wrong."

When asked why he would leave a successful career with General Motors to seek public office, Cadaret replied: "I feel a genuine need to contribute more than I can right now in industry. I feel we need more 'real world' experience in Lansing, especially with the Federal Government pushing more responsibilities back to the states."

Cadaret's civic involvement has spanned many years as he has been fund raiser, advisor and recruiter for Junior Achievement, a fund raiser for the United Fund and Boy Scouts, a Little League Manager, and a member of the Romulus Kiwanis Club and the Romulus Boosters. Because of many of these activities, he was named an Out-

JIM KOSTEVA

Kosteva also joins race for 37th State Rep's job

After serving local governments in western Wayne County for eight years, Jim Kosteva announced that he is a Democratic candidate for the State Representative seat from the 37th district.

Kosteva, 30, current Planning Director for Canton Township, considers his experience at the local level and his positive attitude about Michigan as his greatest assets over those of his competitors.

"I spend everyday working on the issues that are important to the people of western Wayne County: taxes and assessments, landfills, roads, mobile homes and job creation. This experience will help me to develop programs in Lansing which will be of practical value in dealing with problems at the local level," Kosteva said.

If elected, Kosteva's priorities would include: utilizing the existing skilled labor force and other state resources to diversify Michigan's economy; committing funds to ensure Michigan's educational system is second to none; and, making sure that the proposed 'New Federalism' provides a 'fair shake' to local governments and the people in the street.

Kosteva, a resident of the area for 26 years, received his bachelors degree in Metropolitan Studies from North Central College in Naperville, Illinois. His recent study has in-

Kassel eyes Ford's Congressional seat

A long-time resident and real estate representative, Glenn Kassel today announced he will seek the Republican candidacy for U.S. Congress in the 15th District.

"After doing a great deal of soul-searching, I have decided not to stand idly by and watch what some of our complacent politicians are doing to this great country of ours.

"I am now announcing my Republican candidacy for U.S. Congress in the 15th District," Kassel said. He added:

"I plan to do whatever is necessary to prove to the people of the 15th District that I am the right person for this position. I am tired of being dictated to by our so-called establishment. They have got to realize that working people are human beings. What good is all the rhetoric that the Politicians lay on us through the media if it is not backed up by action. My theme throughout my Campaign will be "Action-Not Slogans".

"If you want a 'Maverick' in Washington who is not afraid to assert himself in getting the job done the way it should be, get behind Glen Kassel, for the sake of all taxpayers," he concluded.

Ford cancels annual Municipal Conference

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) and John D. Dingell (D-Trenton) today said they were cancelling their annual local municipal officials conference scheduled for June 9-11 in Washington, D.C., because of the uncertainty of airline travel between Detroit and the nation's Capitol.

"Because of the ongoing strike by the machinists against Northwest Orient Airlines, the principal carrier between Detroit and Washington, and the limited schedule of alternative airlines, we are regretfully cancelling the 1982 Municipal Officials Conference," the two congressmen said.

The time frame in which the strike occurred — so close to the conference — precluded switching airline reservations to other airlines, given the number of reservations necessary to accommodate such a large group.

The two Congressmen advised those city officials who have set up appointments with Federal officials in conjunction with the conference to discuss special projects that their offices would accommodate them on the conferences dates or set new appointments.

"We will try to reschedule the conference at a future time which is both convenient for the officials and timely to events in Washington," they said.

Oh Where, Oh Where COULD MY LITTLE DOG BE?

A small child of Belleville waits for the return of his dog, Chris' only playmate that he had from birth. A little Yorkshire Terrier female dog, Blackish gray over her back with tan legs, feet and chest, with hair over her eyes. "Left her home on May 6th, a Thursday evening. Family members hunted for her immediately for hours, but still the search goes on," said Tammy. "We put up signs, ads in the paper, flyers up at local stores and drove through neighborhoods asking if anyone has seen her. We have answered all calls received on found dogs, but we're still searching for the baby's lost dog. The dog is friendly and wouldn't hurt anyone. She watched over Christopher and played with him. They were buddies. The little dog gets very home-sick and misses her family. She gets where she won't eat anything if she is away from us too long. We miss her so much and no one could love her as much as Chris. If anyone sees her, PLEASE contact the Belleville Police or call 697-7274. A REWARD will be given on the return of the dog."

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

THE ROUNDHOUSE BRIDGE

The roundhouse is one of the most difficult esthetic procedures in dentistry. All of the teeth in one jaw are joined into a fixed bridge. It is generally suggested when the remaining teeth are weak and the best hope for maintaining them (and the replacements for the missing teeth) is to encompass them into one solid unit. "United we stand. Divided we fall."

Like most fixed bridges, the roundhouse is done in either porcelain fused to metal or acrylic veneers. The acrylic veneer is lighter and more flexible, but will abrade and discolor. The porcelain fused to metal will retain its color and texture, but is heavier.

The teeth must be ground parallel to one another so that the fit is passive and true. This is particularly important with porcelain fused to gold, because if the bridge does not fit smoothly, pressure from within the crowns could cause the porcelain to fracture.

A roundhouse can be done in sections, with the individual bridges interlocked, but the greatest support for loose teeth occurs when the bridge is one solid unit.

Voters in Romulus to fill 3 posts

When Romulus voters go to the polls on Monday they will be faced with picking three of seven candidates for the school board and will also be asked to renew an 8.5 mill levy which has expired.

The millage renewal is deemed crucial to the school district's survival, says Supt. of Schools Dr. William Bedell.

"At issue is the survival of this school district and system," Dr. Bedell said. "The ramifications of a voter rejection of this package would be devastating, and it is almost impossible for us to even comprehend what would happen to our programs and our students if these mills are not renewed."

"I realize that these are not the best of times to be asking our residents for money," Dr. Bedell continued, "however, at stake are our children and they will lose out in the long run."

The millage renewal proposal that Romulus voters will see on Monday's ballot reads as follows:

"As a renewal of an increase previously approved by the electors which has expired, shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against property in Romulus Community School District, County of Wayne, Michigan, be increased for a period of five (5) years, the years 1982 to 1986, inclusive, by eight and 50/100 dollars ($8.50) per thousand dollars ($1,000) (8½ mills) of the state equalized valuation on all taxable property in the District in order to provide funds for operating purposes of the School District?"

The voters will be able to cast their votes Monday from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

And while they're pondering the millage levy, local voters also will have to select two candidates for four year terms and one candidate to fill a two-year term.

The three who are seeking the two four year terms are: Edward Wilkerson, Mary King and Jack Bath; the four candidates who are seeking the two year term are Ken Berlinn, Ruth Johnson, Joseph Witherow and James Shelton.

BATH has resided in the school district for 17 years and is supervisor at Jacobson's Home Decorating Center. He has attended the University of Michigan-Dearborn Campus and had been a member of the local Board of Education from 1972-77. He has served on the Board of Appeals (1-year), Recreation Commission (2-years) and has been a member of the PTA, Romulus Athletic Club, and a member of the Calvary Baptist Church (Dearborn).

"I believe that the schools must ensure the children a quality education," Bath said, "and we must do it while working within the current budget. We must put forth a united effort. Board of Education members should be progressive individuals who are sensitive to the needs of our children."

MRS. KING is a lunch room mother who currently has four children attending Romulus schools — two at Cory Elementary and two at the senior high. She had been involved in the schools at all levels, she says, as a classroom assistant and library assistant. She has worked for FISH —volunteer to help needy and or elderly people; Cory PTA, as Compensatory Education Chairperson for three years and is president of the St. Aloysius Credit Union.

"I feel the experience I have had in working in and for the schools and community over the past 17 years have helped me gain sufficient insights to provight a positive contribution to our schools. I care about children and Romulus schools can be improved by parents, teachers, administrators — all of us — working together."

WILKERSON is a supervisor-toolmaker and includes as his qualifications for the school board: Working on the Citizens Advisory Committee, President of the PTA for three years; attended college, advance training. He belongs to the PTA, VFW, Disabled American Veterans, Cub Scouts, Neighborhood Watch, School Millage Elections Committee, Taylor Center Baptist Church, Parents Area Council; Children's Stockade, Girl Scouts and has worked on various local political campaigns.

"I'm running because I want to insure that the Romulus School System is operated in a sensible and progressive as well as efficient way," he stated. He feels "Romulus schools can be improved by more effective discipline, more serious financial planning, and better communications."

WITHEROW has resided in the school district for 16 years and has two children. He is running "to help create a closer and more understandable bond of relationship between the school board members and Romulus citizens."

Witherow also stated that "Romulus schools can be improved by electing candidates who care about the education of our children — the future adults of tomorrow."

MRS. JOHNSON is a statistician and accountant and has two children who are attending the junior and senior high schools. She feels that she will bring her professional acuity to the board where it is so direly needed.

"As an economist and accountant, I feel that I am qualified to assist with the financial problems of the board, and as a parent I feel capable of understanding the personal problems as well."

Mrs. Johnson is a choir-member of the Community Baptist Church of Romulus and points out her reason for running is "to better acquaint myself and other members of the community with the problems and their solutions of our local schools."

"Romulus schools can be improved by improving communications between parents and school faculty. With parental help and encouragement we can beat the financial, drug, drinking and smoking problems we have in our schools today."

BERLINN — With three daughters in the three levels of the local school system, Berlinn can identify readily with the local schools. Appointed to the school board to fill a vacancy nine months ago, Berlinn has been affiliated with the PTA, Concerned Parents Groups, Citizens Advisory Council and the Finance Committee to the School Board.

He has also served as an officer in the PTA, and a host of other organizations such as the Boy Scouts and the UAW Community Action Program.

"I am interested in a better, more well-rounded education for all of the students in Romulus," Berlinn stated. I feel that my experience qualifies me to help achieve our school district's goals.

"And I feel the schools may be improved by upgrading the curriculum at all levels, by instilling a new sense of pride in our educators, our parents and our students. We have an excellent school system and it can be even better if all of us work together. Education is, after all, the bridge to the future."

Rainbow Runners are ready

While most children learn the three R's of Reading, Writing and 'Rithmetic, some first and second graders at Cory Elementary School have added a 4th 'R' to their curriculum: Running.

The 38 children in Wilma Murphy and Ann Reynold's classroom will be holding a Rainbow Runners One Mile Fun Run at the Cory playground on Wednesday, June 16, at noon.

While the children have been jogging all year as a class, they have been training especially hard the last three weeks to prepare for the run. Each day they complete a "jogging assignment" either outside or in the gym.

The children call themselves the "Rainbow Runners," and have designed and made their own race t-shirts sporting the Rainbow Runners logo.

This week the children will be busy filling out race registration forms just like marathoners must complete, and awaiting return of their race numbers.

There will be an awards ceremony after the run, at which each runner will be recognized for his accomplishment in "going the distance."

According to Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Reynolds, some children began the school year coming to school tired in the morning and going home exhausted in the afternoon. Now, at recess, these same children often choose jogging over playing on the swings, and more importantly, have more energy for classroom work, too.

While the one mile the children complete next Wednesday may not be a marathon, the distance could be immeasurable in terms of physical fitness and a sense of personal accomplishment for the Rainbow Runners at Cory School.

They're 'Stars'

Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department will present "Stars" at 7:30 p.m., Saturday at Belleville High School Auditorium and among the 75 performers will be Bambi Gross (second row, from left), Areatha Gates and Tresa Weglarz; center row are Tanya Tingley and DeAnn Dibion and in front is spaceman Dave Gross. The program will include students of all ages and as a theme the choreographer has selected "Outer Space". Tickets are sold by the dance students or may be purchased at the door the night of the performance. Tickets cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12 years.

Van Buren school board incumbents face 4 challengers

Accepting the electorate's will in considering any millage increase at present. The Van Buren Board of Education voted not to place a request for additional mills on the June 14 ballot.

However, local school district voters will have to decide which of six candidates — the two incumbents, board president Ron Tocco and Trustee Connie Brinkerhoff, or challengers Sam Villa, Dr. M. Antoinette Schiesler, Michael Kohut and Eric Tessen — will lead them for the next four years.

Voters will decide on Monday, beginning at 7 a.m., which two will join the board for the next four years.

TOCCO sees the next few years as crucial to the school district. With the teachers without a contract and enrollment declining, funds are not readily available from the state.

"Members of the board can't turn their backs on any of the problems or challenges," Tocco said. "We must, on the one hand, continue to negotiate a fair and equitable contract with the district's teachers and, on the other hand, find the monies needed to restore some of our programs."

A 43-year-old who has resided with his wife, Sharlene, and their three children in the school district for the past 11 years, Tocco is a graduate of the University of Detroit (1964) and owns a photographic studio. He has served on a host of boards, including advisory boards at Oakland Community College, where he helped establish a two-year career photography course.

MRS. BRINKERHOFF has been employed as a teacher's aide in the Van Buren Compensatory Education Program since 1973. She is a year away from a degree from Eastern Michigan University where she is enrolled in a Family Life program.

A resident of the district for the past 18 years, her four children have either graduated from or are enrolled in the local school district. She lists her club affiliations as Girl Scouts, Little League Baseball, the Tiger Booster Club. She also belongs to the Van Buren Citizens Advisory Council and has been a Sunday School teacher for the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

"We have a tradition here in Belleville of saving fine schools and I hope to help continue that tradition," Mrs. Brinkerhoff said.

VILLA has been instrumental in making the Tiger Booster Club a successful one. A resident of the school district for the past 26 years, he has actively worked for the passage of the school millages for the past three years.

"I want to continue to be involved in our schools," Villa said. "And my objective is to get the most out of our tax dollars."

DR. SCHIESLER is the director of research development and professor at the Eastern Michigan University. She earned her B.A. at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland, her M.S. from the University of Tennessee in 1968, and her Ph.D. from the University of Maryland in 1977.

"The problems of the Van Buren School District are not unique to this district," Dr. Schiesler. "Most school districts are suffering from lack of funds."

"What we do now, what steps we take will determine the future of our children," she added.

KOHUT has resided in the school district for the past eight years and, as a local Jaycee, has been very active in their programs. He has attended Eastern Michigan University and Washtenaw Community College and has taken classes in collective bargaining and grievance procedures.

He sees the financial picture in the school district as one that must be addressed to immediately. "State aid and enrollment will continue to decline," Kohut says, "therefore money will be tight."

TESSEN has four children and has been a resident of the school district for the past six years. He received his high school G.E.D. while in the U.S. Army in 1960. He is active with the PTA and a member of the National Rifle Association. He is also owner of the Tessen Auto Repair Shop.

"The challenges facing our school district are the same as most others in the state," Tessen said. "Maintaining the incoming cash flow, staying within a balanced budget and attempting to reinstate a six-hour school day with a full teaching staff will be major problems the next board must face," he said.

act to divert revenue from usual taxing jurisdictions for other special purposes. In this instance, the exemptions from the DDA and TIFA allow the County to keep for its own use the revenue that otherwise would have been used elsewhere.

As chairman of the General Government Committee, Citkowski in April sought the exemption through Detroit City Council, which referred the request to the TIFA.

Citkowski said that the County has lost some $7.6 million in tax abatements since 1974, and that the abatements are most often granted by municipal authorities without consultation with the County. "Usually we hear about it after the fact," he pointed out. "In these instances, we are fortunate enough to have recovered what would be revenue lost to us."

"Everybody knows that Wayne County can't afford to lose anything."

County has 'shopping list'

Local officials await Community Grant funds

Many local municipalities and townships are eagerly awaiting word on Community Block Grant Funds that need approval by federal agencies.

And, on July 6, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will request the U.S. Department of Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 for a host of projects.

Belleville has four major projects at stake including a $66,000 application for the completion of engineering for the separation of sanitary and storm sewers; also a $2000 application for a modification to existing fire station for its emergency vehicle, and the purchase of $1,000 of park equipment including swings, teeter-totters, tables and benches in Victory Park.

Belleville also has earmarked $3,000 of its anticipated funds for public services, specifically, for operating the Belleville Senior Citizens Club and the Romulus Help Center.

Huron Township's applications are as follows: Water-sewer facilities — improvements to a three-quarter mile of Hosmer and Uht Drains at a cost of $8,100; street improvements, namely the replacements of 300 feet of sidewalks ($1,800); fire protection facilities at Fire Hall No. 1, the insulation and energy improvements to the hall at a cost of $4,500; park development in the Middlebelt-Huron NSA. The improvements will include a picnic shelter at a cost of $9,000.

Huron has also applied for grants that would include the improvement of one mile of storm drainage ($11,700); the purchase of a fire vehicle and insulation to center ($25,650); street improvements of 200 feet of sidewalk at Waltz NSA at $1,350; and a provision for partial personnel salary for Senior Citizens Director ($3,600) as well as minor home repairs—funding to Romulus Help Center for Senior Citizen minor home repairs ($1,800).

Romulus' shopping list includes street improvements along Wayne Road from I-94 to Wick, widening of one mile of street at a cost of $60,000; public services in Wayne-Beverly areas to provide funding for purchase of seeds, garden tools, and tilling within a Farm-A-Lot Program ($2,000); also $10,000 for private funding for partial personnel costs of a case-worker which would assist the disabled.

The city would also seek $15,000 for minor home repairs for income eligible citizens through the Romulus Help Center and seeks $21,000 for utilization in improving a storm drainage in the Goddard, Waltz, Sterling and Grant Street areas.

Sumpter Township is seeking grant approval for $70,000 to clean approximately 2 1/3 miles of the Clark-Maxey Drain in the southwest portion of the township between Sumpter and Willow Roads. Officials are seeking $6,500 for energy notification at Fire Station No. 1 which would include replacement of doors, windows, and installation of insulation.

Sumpter is asking $10,500 to fund the salary of a senior citizens coordinator, and $21,000 for the rehabilitation of the old Township Hall for use as a library reading room and senior services office. About $7000 would go to a minor home repair fund for approximately 150 senior citizens and $2,307 is being sought to landscape 5,000 square feet surrounding the senior center and installing a 200 linear feet of fencing.

Van Buren's needs include $34,000 for a comprehensive rehabilitation of 3-dwelling units in the Denton, Quirk, Van Buren Estates and Roulo Subdivisions; Ecorse-Robson-Sheldon area. The township is applying for $34,000 for improvements to water system in the Belleville and Tyler Roads, while if the application is approved, the township would also seek $10,960 to purchase fire equipment.

Strawberry Festival flag

If you ask any Belleville resident the next few days you'll discover that Belleville will become the Strawberry Capital of the World as local citizens and area residents prepare for their annual Strawberry Festival scheduled for June 18-19-20. To help commemorate that annual festival, Agnes Cook, Director of the Festival Board, ordered festival flags shown above by local firefighters Dale Guenther (from left) and Dennis Jaromin. One of the more exciting programs of the three-day festival will be staged Friday night at Belleville High when 11 young and talented ladies seek to become the Strawberry Queen. 2 firefighters get arson training

Two Belleville firemen have completed an intensive fire investigation training program conducted at the University of Michigan. The agencies supplying the skill and knowledge included the Washtenaw County Fire Investigation Bureau, the Michigan State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Other agencies included the fire departments from Ypsilanti, Ypsilanti Township, Ann Arbor, and Pittsfield Township fire departments.

The curriculum of the three month exercise included behavior of fire, determining the point of origin, accidental fire causes, basics of insurance, motivation of the fire setter, photography, fatal and vehicle fires, legal aspects, interviews and interrogation, evidence collecting, and report writing.

The two City of Belleville Firemen are assistant Fire Chief Tom Griffin and Captain Gary Koeppel. Griffin is employed full time as a medic and driver for Taylor ambulance service and is an advanced first aid and C.P.R. instructor for the American Red Cross. Koeppel is employed full time as assistant supervisor of Standard Realty Corporation (Lemontree complex) and is vice-president of the Belleville-Van Buren little league baseball.

Dog owners, beware

Belleville postmaster readies 'dog bite' prevention campaign

As the U.S. Postal Service prepares for delivery during the forthcoming summer months, the public and delivery employees are being encouraged to be especially alert to the potential for animal attacks on public streets or private premises.

Patrick J. Tobin, Postmaster, said today that precautionary safety measures taken by the public and delivery employees will aid in the movement of the mail during the vacation period and "more importantly, help reduce employee injuries due to dog bites."

Across the nation thousands of letter carriers, special delivery messengers and delivery and collection personnel were injured last year — most during the summer vacation period — due to the hazardous condition of unrestrained dogs during delivery hours.

This year the Postmaster said the Postal Service will make every attempt to deliver mail as efficiently and safely as ever. "However," he added, "through cooperation on the part of our customers, this task will be much easier to accomplish."

In all communities, customers are being requested to keep their dogs restrained during delivery hours, which includes restraint of the animal if the delivery person must make delivery on the customer's premises.

All letter carriers and messengers are being encouraged this year to follow safety tips in an effort to reduce the dog bite injury rate.

Delivery personnel are being reminded that if an unrestrained animal threatens their safety at a particular residence, they are not required to risk injury by attempting to make delivery. In such instances, mail service will be curtailed to that residence and not resumed until such time as the owner of the dog provides the post office with written assurance that the animal will be controlled in the future during delivery hours.

The Postmaster also noted that delivery service personnel bitten by customer animals are encouraged by the Office of Worker's Compensation Programs (OWCP) under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA, 5 USC 8101 et seq.), to pursue a claim against the person or party responsible, or his/her insurance company. Often such settlements result in damage payments amounting to thousands of dollars.

Effective control of personal pets, however, is the most effective safety precaution a customer can take to ensure his delivery carrier is properly safeguarded against dog bites, the Postmaster said.

Shrine paper sale time

As local and area elected officials called upon their citizenry to support the worthy Shrine paper sale cause, Moslem Temple Potentate Thomas G. Draper (above) poses with Kelly to remind residents that the annual Shrine Hospital Newspaper Sale is scheduled for this weekend, June 11-12. Kelly is one of the approximately 800 area children currently undergoing treatment in the Shrine Hospital system. All proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used to support Shriners Hospitals for Crippled & Burned Children.

Shriners seek funds for crippled children

In a proclamation signed this week, Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson urged local citizens and residents to rally around the Shriners and help in the Moslem Shrine Newspaper Fund Drive.

"The members of the Shrine of North America have adopted as their special philanthropy, the care and treatment of crippled and burned children," Mayor Emerson noted, "and the Shrine Hospital network has continually grown through the years until it now consists of 21 hospitals... all of which are actively engaged in patient care, teaching and research."

"So I urge all citizens to support this worthy cause and thereby assist in the vital work of this philanthropy," Mayor Emerson concluded.

Shriners wearing their familiar red fezzes, all members of Detroit's Moslem Temple, will be on the streets selling a Shrine Hospital Newspaper on Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12, will all proceeds going to aid crippled and burned children.

This announcement was made today by Thomas G. Draper, Moslem

Temple Potentate and leader of over 15,000 Shriners in southeastern Michigan.

Draper said the newspaper will highlight the principal Shrine philanthropy, the 21 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled and Burned Children located through the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The Shrine Hospital System provides care and treatment to children ranging in age from infancy to 18 years, free of charge and without regard to race, creed or national origin.

Moslem Temple currently has an active patient load of almost 800 children, most of whom receive care at either the Shrine Orthopedic Hospital in Chicago or the Shrine Burns Unit in Cincinnati. Anyone knowing of a child requiring orthopedic surgery or rehabilitative care or treatment for burns should immediately phone Moslem Temple's toll free number 1-800-482-4265.

Draper urged everyone approached by a Shriner on June 11 and 12 to buy a newspaper and support this vital work.

Legion donates flag to Huron High School

Mrs. Ethel Jewell, an officer of the Huron Valley American Legion Auxiliary No. 231, presented an American flag to Huron High School principal Jon W. Stevens.

The large 8 x 12 flag was graciously awarded to replace an earlier flag presented in 1979.

The Huron Valley American Legion Auxiliary has been active in area schools and have sponsored high school junior girls to the Michigan Girls State at Central Michigan University.

"Huron High School appreciates this fine organization's interest in our school," Principal Stevens said.

Romulus schools announce key administrative changes

At the June 14 board meeting, the Romulus Community Schools is expected to announce major shifts in assignments of professional staff for the coming school year.

Joel Carr, Romulus High School Principal, will be assigned to replace the retiring James Garfield as Business Administrator for the school district.

Carr has been 10 years in Romulus and brings a total of eighteen years of experience in school business to his new assignment.

Replacing Carr at the High School will be Al Sheffield, who is currently the Vocational Education Director.

A number of other changes will be announced including shifts in counselling assignments and the Roman will publish details as they become available.

Carr has been high school principal in Romulus since 1972. He came to the district from Lakeshore High School in Stevensville, Michigan. He has three degrees from the University of Michigan and a number of professional honors. He has recently been elected President of the Romulus Rotary Club.

Sheffield has been Director of one of the state's largest Vocational Programs for the past ten years. He came to Romulus in 1966 as an Auto Shop Teacher. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and has a state-wide reputation in Vocational Education.

cluded Masters coursework at the University of Michigan.

While in college, Kosteva was selected to participate in the Washington Urban Semester at the American University in Washington, D.C. He also served a term in Lansing as a legislative analyst.

In recent months, Kosteva has served on the Wayne County Planning Committee determining landfill policy, where he has been an outspoken critic of the heavy reliance upon western Wayne County communities to bear the landfill burden without some type of compensation.

"In many instances, prime industrial land is being consumed for landfills and sludge deposits. Aside from problems inherent in these operations, local communities lose the opportunity to utilize these lands for more productive purposes both in terms of job creation and tax base.

"The legislature made a major mistake in not addressing local concerns and appropriate compensation in the Solid and Hazardous Waste Laws," Kosteva pointed out.

Kosteva believes that in times such as these the government system must be analyzed part by part. Those parts which serve only to benefit the system and not the purpose of government, must be replaced.

Married to Laura for the past 2½ years, the Kostevas make their home in Canton Township.

5 charged in "kick-back scheme"

Grand Jury indicts 2 New Boston businessmen

Prosecuting Attorney William L. Cahalan announced today that the Wayne County Citizen's Grand Jury has issued 11 indictments against 5 individuals.

One Indictment charges the former local representatives of an international industrial metals concern located in Romulus with taking over $500,000 in kickbacks from a supplier to the international concern.

The second indictment charges the same person with taking over $60,000 in kickbacks from a company that provided warehousing services to the international concern.

The other 4 individuals were charged with various crimes, including Obtaining Money by False Pretenses Over $100; Failing or Refusing to File Single Business Tax Returns, Failing or Refusing to File Individual Income Tax Returns, and Filing False or Fraudulent Income Tax Returns.

Charged were Judith M. Nielsen, 42, formerly owner of Romulus Industrial Consignments, 36115 Goddard Rd., who is presently a resident of New Boston; Mark Monolidis, 61, of Dearborn Heights; Robert P. Rasch, Jr. 35, President and Treasurer of Industrial Consignments, 36115 Goddard Rd., also a resident of New Boston.

Also charged were two residents of Westland: Gary M. Gilbert, 45, who is now residing in Tennessee and Janice M. Oesterling, 34, also formerly of Westland, now residing in Tennessee.

Gilbert was for a number of years the local sales representative of Airco, Inc. and its successor, S.K.W., Inc., an international concern with headquarters in Germany, engaged in the business of selling industrial metals, particularly alloys sold to foundries for use in iron and steel making.

Gilbert is charged with having received kickbacks of over $500,000 from one supplier to Airco, Inc. and S.K.W., Inc., and over $60,000 in kickbacks from another supplier, between 1976 and 1980.

The investigation began initially with information that Gilbert was receiving kickbacks on contracts between Acme Block & Supply Co. of Saginaw and his employer.

"As the investigation developed," Cahalan stated, "we concluded he was also receiving kickbacks from Romulus Industrial Consignments of Romulus, who supplied warehousing services to his employer."

The indictments also charge that Mr. Gilbert failed to file Single Business Tax Returns reporting the alleged kickback income and paying taxes on it, also, he filed allegedly false Personal Income Tax Returns in which he failed to include revenue derived from the kickback scheme.

"We also concluded that some of the people associated with Mr. Gilbert, both personally and in business, had either filed false Tax Returns or no Tax Returns whatever with respect to either monies received from Mr. Gilbert or in their regular business activities," Cahalan said.

Mrs. Janice Oesterling is the President and principal stockholder. Substantial amounts of the money alleged to have been received in kickbacks by Gary Gilbert were transferred to Jan-E-F, Inc.

The investigation disclosed that over $200,000 of checks received by Gilbert from Acme were negotiated through Monolidis of M & M Trucking. In the 1960's Monolidis was convicted twice of bookmaking activities.

The investigation was conducted with substantial assistance provided the Special Investigations Division of the Revenue Department, Michigan Department of Treasury, who provided the services of Mr. John Ray, a C.P.A. for the Treasury Department, who spent hundreds of hours analyzing business books and records and bank records which were the major part of the investigation.

The Special Investigations Division of the Treasury Department devotes its efforts to developing criminal cases against persons who fail to file Tax Returns, who file false returns; and also pursues civil assessments against illegal enterprises such as narcotics, gambling and prostitution. Within the past year, the Treasury Department has charged 20 persons who are believed to be part of Detroit's booming $500,000 a year stolen wheel cover business. Those persons were charged with failing to file Personal Income Tax Returns and paying taxes on income in excess of $500,000 over a three year period, costing the state over $50,000 in Personal Income Taxes.

"It is obvious that when large numbers of people fail to file state tax returns and pay the proper amounts of taxes, every other taxpayer in the state pays some proportionately higher amount to make up for the loss," Cahalan said, "in a time of declining state tax revenue and increasing state income tax rates, the effect on all of the residents of the state is substantial."

All of the defendants will be arraigned before Wayne Circuit Court Judge Michael Stacey at 2:00 p.m. this afternoon in his courtroom at 1501 City-County Building. They will then be referred to District Courts in Westland, Romulus, Dearborn Heights and Detroit for preliminary examinations on those charges.

Hines Park controversy

Friday this week begins a second lawsuit filed by the City of Dearborn Heights hoping to force the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and County Road Commission to provide police service in Hines Park.

In a show cause hearing before Circuit Court Judge William Cahalan, the county will respond to why an injunction should not be issued for failure to provide police services for the park.

Two weeks ago, the five-mile section of the park running through Dearborn Heights was closed by Mayor Donald H. Bishop. When the park was closed, after declaration of a state of emergency, Dearborn Heights filed its first suit seeking help with costs of patrolling the 2,325 acre park which stretches through seven communities.

In closing the Dearborn Heights section, Bishop cited budget problems and said it would cost the community $261,000 in police overtime to adequately patrol the area.

Landfill protest

Huron residents seek answers

By STEVE O'LEARY

Approximately 200 irate citizens, attended a special meeting of the Huron Township Board last Thursday to air their feelings and protest a proposed landfill project in the township.

John Laymen of Lion Developers, a division of Browning-Ferris Industries, was present to give background on what the company was going to submit for a construction permit.

At present, the firm has under option, but does not yet own, 105 acres west of I-25 between Sibley and Pennsylvania roads, for which it plans to apply for a Type 2 permit to allow them to build a solid waste disposal site on the property.

A type 2 permit is for household refuse only, not, as many who attended the meeting feared, hazardous waste.

Mary Lou Carey, township clerk, said she feels that people are over-reacting now because of the rumors...everyone is afraid of the unknown.

"At this stage we don't know if a landfill is going to be a reality. I had a call the day after the meeting from a woman who had heard that the cranes were ready to move now, and she heard that from someone who was at the meeting."

"I don't want to see a landfill in our community," added Mrs. Carey, "but I know I have to throw my garbage somewhere. And from the looks of things, the Township Board isn't going to have much to say about it anyway."

According to Public Act 641 the community has little power to stop a type 2 permit from being issued. That authority is now enforced at the state level.

The permit must be applied for and approved by the Department of Natural Resources, which can take up to 120 days, before the Wayne County Solid Waste Management Planning Committee submits its final Solid Waste Disposal Plan to the DNR.

Other permits, including one for minimum soil erosion, would also have to be obtained before any ground was moved, as would the approval of Wayne County Drain Commissioner.

Nothing is going to happen in the near future, if at all, Township officials stressed.

Mrs. Carey vows that "The township will stay on top of this and do everything in our power to keep it from becoming a reality."

Flood insurance is available for Huron property owners

Huron Township has been accepted into the National Flood Insurance Program effectively May 28, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), which administers the flood insurance program.

The township Board took the initiative to adopt flood plain management measures designed to reduce future flood damages in order to qualify its citizens for the sale of federally sponsored flood insurance.

This means that property owners here are eligible to buy flood insurance from any property insurance agent or broker in the community at rates subsidized by the federal government, FEMA Director Louis O. Giuffrida said.

Owners of property in flood-prone areas must, by law, buy flood insurance to receive any form of federal financial aid to build or buy buildings in those areas.

"This would include grants from federal agencies; FHA, VA, and Farmers Home Administration mortgage loans; loans from Small Business Administration; and conventional mortgage loans from any federally regulated or supervised bank or savings and loan association," Giuffrida explained.

Flood insurance is available for all residents of the community, but Giuffrida emphasized that the requirements to purchase flood insurance do not apply to property which is not in a FEMA-identified flood-prone area.

Under the program, coverage can be obtained for all buildings and their contents. The insurance limit for single-family homes is $35,000, and it is $100,000 for other residential buildings.

The contents coverage for all residential buildings can be insured up to $10,000 and contents of all non-residential structures up to a maximum of $100,000 in coverage.

Policies are effective at 12:01 a.m. of the day following the application date if they are purchased during the first 30 days of the community's eligibility. After the first 30 days, new policies are effective after a five-day waiting period, unless they are purchased in conjunction with a real estate transaction. In that case, coverage is effective upon closing of title and with receipt of the application for insurance and premium payment.

Agents and brokers may obtain flood insurance policy forms, rates, flood insurance manuals, and other information on the flood insurance program from the servicing agent for the National Flood Insurance Program, P.O. Box 34294, Bethesda, Md. 20834.

Romulus students show off 'sun house'

Vocational/Education students enrolled in the Romulus Building Trades Construction program are busy mastering the housing technology skills of the '80s by constructing their first solar-energy efficient house.

According to Terry Bird, the district's Building Trades vocational education instructor, 20 students were involved with the project from the time the property was surveyed and will be until the last piece of trim is nailed.

The passive solar home design was developed by the Mid-American Solar Energy Complex (MASEC). The home was specifically designed for the climate of the upper mid-west.

The Romulus home is part of a program in which houses are designed to use 80 percent less energy than do similar, conventionally-built homes.

Some of the features of the home are:

- Active solar hot water system with conductors on the roof.
- All windows and living spaces on the south side of the house let in heat and light.

• North side (windowless side) houses utility spaces.

• 6-inch thick walls on the north.

• 30-inch roof overhangs to shade windows in summer — yet warm rooms in the winter.

• 2 solar mass walls made of concrete to absorb heat in winter and keep rooms warm.

• Solar mass floors made of quarry tiles to collect heat in front of windows.

• Air lock double-door entry.

• Solar gallery living room (high ceiling to take advantage of 10-foot windows).

• Highly energy efficient wood windows with ¾-inch air space double pane.

• Walls — full thick side wall insulation plus 1-inch styrofoam 12-inch ceiling.

"In today's tight housing market a background in energy efficient construction makes our students' job skills more saleable," said Bird.

He went on to say that the goal of next year's program will be to remodel and refurbish existing homes in the community adding solar energy efficient features.

Residents interested in this remodeling program and the new solar home are invited to an Open House Sunday, June 13 from 1 to 4 and Tuesday, June 15 from 9 to 3.

The solar home is located at 9575 Cogswell and features: 1650 sq. ft. with 3 bedrooms — 3 baths — attached garage and full stained wood exterior.

Huron bus drivers advance to state

Two bus drivers of the Huron School District earned first and third places recently in regional School Bus Roadshow at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Donna Eberhardt, a Romulus resident, earned first place and Sharon Kelems, a New Boston resident, took third place. They will compete against 38 of Michigan's other top bus drivers for the state finals in Lansing June 12.

Co-sponsored by the Auto Club and the Michigan Association for Pupil Transportation, the roadshows test a driver's ability to handle a standard school bus on a prescribed obstacle course. Written and verbal tests on rules, regulations and equipment are also given to the drivers.

The other area bus driver qualifying for the finals is Kay Beacham, a Canton resident and bus driver for the Plymouth-Canton School District.

Brown awarded degree

Timothy Brown of Romulus recently received an associate of arts degree in Hotel & Restaurant Management at Northwood Institute's 23rd annual commencement ceremonies in Midland.

The 1982 graduating class was addressed by Thomas G. Cook, chairman and chief executive officer of Tenneco Automotive. Cook's talk to the class of 530 associate degree students and 345 bachelor degree students was entitled, "The Man in the Glass." Cook urged each of the new graduates to "be The Man in the Glass"; a person has no limitations other than himself.

"Challenge that man in the glass. Challenge him every day... he may surprise you with his abilities... he may surprise you with his range and versatility... he may surprise you with his growth and potential."

School board races: Time for decisions

It is crystal clear to almost everyone who has been following these pages that there is a lot of excitement being generated this year in the annual June school elections.

School officials are expecting larger than usual voter turnouts in most of our area school districts even though there are millage renewal votes in only two - the Romulus Community School District and the Westwood School District.

In the other areas, voters will decide which school board candidate will be seated. Unlike past years, however, school officials are predicting greater than usual turnouts, if the weather cooperates. It is a good omen, we believe, in ominous school days that are clouded with financial problems and declining enrollment.

It appears that the voters are finally waking up to the undeniable fact that a school district is only as good as the people who run it. We have always had the obstinate hope that when the challenges are great, great people will step forward to face them.

And these are crucial times for our schools. We need qualified people to run and oversee their operations. The money is not there to finance them or patrol those who have the keys to the coffers. It is time to elect people who realize that schools must be run in a businesslike fashion.

The days of running to Lansing or to Washington for funds are over. Therefore, we need people who know education. Who know that the loud voices attempting to engulf the good that professional educators have worked hard and long to build are just voices in the wind.

It is a time for decision. Dialogue gushing with heresy and half-truths has never solved problems, be it in education, industry or in business. Intellectuals know that those who holler the most usually know the least. The infuriated can — and often do — multiply, but sometimes it is best to listen.

There are individual school board members and often even entire school boards refusing to listen to the people whose will it was that placed them in office. And there are justifications, at times, to recall those who do not serve their people.

But on Monday, June 14, the people of this area will have an opportunity to send a message to their school officials, and we hope the message is as follows:

We believe that incumbent Tom Barrett and his challenger Dewey Combs in the Wayne-Westland school board race are two excellent candidates. Each has excellent credentials and will serve the residents ad the schools well.

But we also believe that Mr. Barrett, with his vast experience in education, is better tuned in to the problems of the school district and will continue to work for the good of the over-all community.

We ask our readers to return MR. BARRETT to office where he can continue that work.

We are also urging our readers in Romulus to support KEN BERLIN for his 2-year term and both EDWARD WILKERSON and MARY KING for the 4-year terms.

TOCCO and incumbent CONNIE BRINKERHOFF, if they need School District to cast their votes for board president RONALD TOCCO and incumbent CONNIE BRINKERHOFF, if they need another choice, we highly recommend Dr. M. Antoinette Schiesler.

He knows the city's gays, junkies and common laborers. He knows its secretaries, salesmen, scientists and socialites.

Ramberg, 34, investigates venereal disease (VD) for the county health department.

"If you don't want to get lost, just get VD," he advises, "you will become the statistic of an informal ring of health organizations dedicated to wiping out our last great communicable disease epidemic."

Every year about 20 million Americans contract one or more of 20 sexually transmitted diseases. Left untreated, infected women can require repeated surgery, over 115,000 procedures annually. Men may become sterile or develop arthritis. The lives of children are marred by blindness, deformity or death.

In 1982 the federal government will spend $31 million preventing the spread of VD. In contrast, the U.S. Center for Disease Control (CDC) estimates medical treatment, lost work and other costs at $2.5 billion annually. It is an enormous burden on the public health system, namely cities and counties.

Charleston, for example, shares health services with two other counties. They spend about $165,000 of a $6 million public health budget on VD control, and much more curing its victims: Three children with syphilis symptoms were recently born in Charleston hospitals.

The problem is not exclusive to this beautiful, flower-filled port on the banks of the Ashley and Cooper rivers. Although the metropolis, home of a quarter million people, has more VD than other regions in the state, 12 states have greater incidence of syphilis than South Carolina.

At a time when Health Director Joe C. Chambers is looking for ways to cut costs, he must beef up VD control. Even the federal government may kick in a few million more next year, but it's far short of what's needed.

Children of the baby boom now are sexually active adults. Syphilis increased 14.9 percent last year. Penicillin-resistant gonorrhea has increased six-fold in three years. Nongonococcal urethritis is as common as gonorrhea. Incurable genital herpes affects 500,000 more each year.

But VD has no constituency. People who have these diseases don't advertise. "Elected officials worry about spending public money on what they consider a self-inflicted wound. They say VD is something people do to themselves," says CDC Health Specialist Fred Kroger.

"Some politicians have trouble understanding the dollar value of preventive medicine," he says. "If a woman develops gonorrhea and fails to receive medication, she may end up spending a week in the hospital. That's expensive."

Venereal disease just isn't a sexy issue. Ramberg's clinic is so short-staffed it can only follow up on syphilis and gonorrhea. "Like most undercover work, VD control is often tedious. A single case can take days," he says.

He uses all the tools of a first class private eye — cross indexes, police records and confidential sources — to track his "cases." The trail begins with a lab report or doctor's referral, both required by law.

The law also requires suspects to have blood tests — and the clinic has the authority to seek arrest warrants. That right is rarely used, since it does little to create the rapport necessary if victims are going to divulge partners' names.

And so the detective work begins. "Sometimes we can't locate our clients, so we drive out to their houses, merely to discover they've moved," Ramberg says. "We go back to the source and ask, 'Why didn't you tell me she moved?' Then we ask for a description and hear, 'I don't remember what she looked like, but I met her at this club...'"

Neighborhood grocers and postmen on the street are more willing to talk to this quiet mustached man than police, because his files are closed. "We deal with some people who are running from the law, but we don't report to other agencies," Ramberg explained. Teenagers are not they reside in the district. Yes, the 'Big Bucks' are being spent in this election to keep Mr. Combs off the school board.

This election comes down to a very basic but most important decision of whether a teacher (Mr. Barrett) or a parent and taxpayer representative will sit on the school board for the next 4 years.

Do we believe our district's best interests have been served under the direction of Mr. Barrett, who admitted he could not recall if he had ever voted on a single one of Dr. Dyer's recommendations and supported the new teacher contract granting a 7-9 percent increase yearly when most all of us in private industry are accepting concessions? I submit a resounding NO! Did Mr. Barrett have our best interest at heart when he firmly committed himself to and voted for the Community College proposal knowing full well that 1 mill of our K-12 tax dollars would be taken away from our kids? I submit an absolute no! Furthermore, did Mr. Barrett have our best interests at heart when under his direction and (or participation as a board member the decision to build the Taj Mahal-like board and administration offices rather than renovate one of our vacant and unsold school buildings? Again I submit a resounding NO!

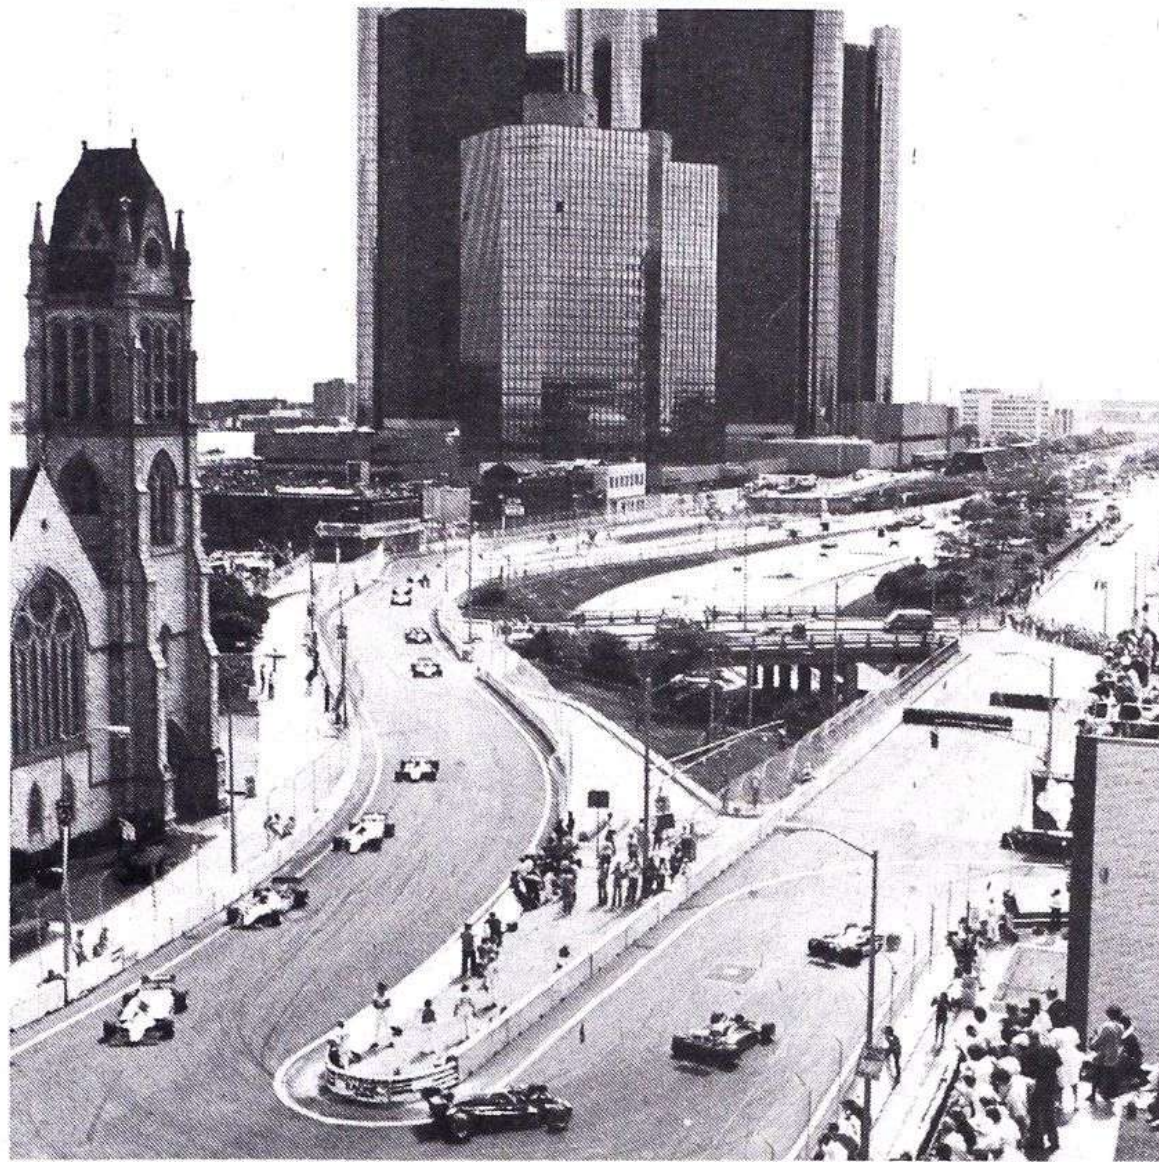

I urge, as strongly as I possibly can, that the parents and taxpayers get out and make your voice heard next Monday, June 14! You really can make a difference in this election. Mr. Dewey Combs is without a doubt worth your confidence and vote. He is a parent, a dedicated believer in our kids, a taxpayer and will represent us as a member of the Board of Education and not some special interest.

Oh yes, in case you have cause to wonder what my stake is in this election; her name is Melissa and she is almost two years old and in a few short years she too will be a part of this school district which is dear to me.

Most Sincerely,
Glenn S. Anderson

Writer says that W-W race should go to Combs

Next Monday is more than just a school board election in the Wayne-Westland school district. It is actually a referendum on a great number of issues facing our district; among them the ill-conceived and unaffordable community college, the very costly and premature contract with the teachers of the district, and more important the quality of our children's education and whether or not the parents and taxpayers will continue to be ignored in policy and curriculum decisions.

The supporters of the two candidates in this election have a great deal at stake in this election which is obvious to any observer. On one have you have the supporters of Mr. Barrett the incumbent of whom a vast majority, I believe, are teachers, administrators, and other employees of the school district.

Theirs is a very real stake in this election, to them. Their Unions and respective organizations have campaigned harder and more diligently than I can ever remember in such an election. One should examine the reason behind this; one of them surely being the contracts they have received under Mr. Barrett's leadership as a member and past president of the board of education. The zealous campaigning of some of these has, by anyone's standards, gotten totally out of hand.

Many of you surely remember getting calls from your children's teacher, some being non-published phone numbers proving they were from the school records and a violation of your confidence in providing the phone number in the first place. No doubt many of the parents of the children in our schools were approached by our children whom have been held captive to political speeches by some teachers and fervent supporters of Mr. Barrett. This is politics as usual in the eyes of many of those whose incomes are dependent on our tax dollars.

I believe it is a dirty shame. These administrators and teachers have been strongly suggested to contribute large amounts of money to Mr. Barrett's campaign regardless of whether or

Sick of recalls

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Those of you who are presently working to recall elected officials may look upon the following words as a vehicle to usurp your rights to do so.

But, in these parts at least, we have had it with recalls. I'm not saying that the residents of Wayne-Westland Community School District or the Inkster School District or Van Buren shouldn't go right ahead and hang their elected officials. However, we implore you to read on.

Recall is a weapon we feel should be used to dismiss those officials who have dipped their hands in city and township coffers; who commit malfeasance in office; who are getting rich at the expense of the voters.

It is a weapon that should be carefully used and not spread around like the common cold.

After each election we usually note here how many went to the polls, what percentage of the electorate actually used their constitutional rights. Usually the percentages are woefully low.

We don't care if you don't agree with our endorsements; but do go to the polls and send a message to the candidates on how you feel. Your vote DOES MAKE a difference. If you don't like an incumbent's record, then laugh him out of office; kick him out with your vote.

Don't occupy your thoughts with recall after the fact.

And it does this soul some good that after all these years someone up in Lansing has finally decided to introduce a Bill that would save the taxpayers some money and make it tough to recall.

State Senator Bill Faust, in a letter to local officials, stated that House Bill 5381 may solve some of the recall problems.

"Over the past few years, Faust says there has been a dramatic increase in attempts to recall local officials. Frequently, these attempts have been initiated on grounds of questionable substance and validity. Additionally, it is not uncommon for officials to be unable to discover the reasons the petitions are being circulated calling for their removal from office until the petitions are filed with the local clerk.

House Bill 5381 seeks to address the problems associated with the current recall process. The bill's key provisions require that boards of county election commissions evaluate the clarity of the wording on the recall petition and provide for notice of the impending charges to the official being recalled before the petitions are circulated.

HB 5381 passed the House in February and was referred to the Senate Municipalities and Elections Committee. Although no action has been scheduled on the bill as yet, it is my understanding that the committee will consider the bill before the end of this session," Faust concluded.

treated without parental consent. Not even the courts are privy to medical information.

One carrier can be related to many others. Recently, an unemployed factory worker with syphilis was reported by his doctor. His wife had secondary symptoms: her hair was falling out. She had given him the disease.

He named one partner, who was treated. The partner (not his wife) named eight others, who named four more, including a 63-year-old dock worker.

Ramberg never found out who gave it to the factory worker's wife! "The sad thing is that not everyone named by someone else named that person back," Ramberg said. "We don't tell people how we get their names, yet our clients are still afraid of being found out."

He recently broke up a fight in the clinic that started when a man learned his lover gave him VD.

The stigma of VD is so great victims often don't know how to get help. So the American Social Health Association sponsors a toll-free, confidential hotline from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Pacific Daylight Time) Monday through Friday; and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, at (800) 227-8922, and (800) 982-5883, in California.

Ramberg believes public health clinics follow up on most reported gonorrhea and syphilis in the United States. He has sent and received information from every continent. He goes to great lengths to educate people about their afflictions, and make sure they're cured.

"I've drawn blood from a person in the back of a juke joint lit with a 40-watt bulb.

"I've drawn blood on board a paddlewheeler as it cruised through Louisville.

"I've driven 12 miles through sugar cane to draw blood from a field worker," he says.

Ramberg reminded me CDC and its international kin have effectively wiped out small pox worldwide. And in 1977-78, the U.S. wasted $145 million immunizing people for a swine flu epidemic that didn't happen. Obviously, we have the tools to combat VD, if adequately funded.

But for Ramberg — the syphilis sleuth — it's a lonely battle.

Dems point out error

Editor — The June 3, 1982 edition of the Westland Eagle contained a letter to the editor which was signed by Charles Griffin as president of the Westland Democratic Club.

This is an error, and a serious one at that.

The President of the Westland Democratic Club is Harry Greenfield.

The Westland Democratic Club has strongly endorsed Dewey V. Combs for the election to the Wayne-Westland Board of Education, and not the incumbent.

It is important that this error be corrected so that the voters are informed of the Democratic Club's position in this most important election.

HENRY GREENFIELD

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Mr. Griffin had correctly identified himself in the letter submitted to the Associated Newspapers. The error was in editing of the copy and we apologize to Mr. Griffin and those involved.)

Romulus vote is crucial

EDITOR — As a senior citizen serving on the Romulus School Board I would like to remind you older people (and younger ones too) how important the coming school election is!

Most of us have been through good times and bad times. We also know that the survival of our country and our way of life depends on the knowledge and experience of our older citizens combined with the energy, ability and education of our younger people.

The main tool that we can give them is a decent education. What I am saying is, let's not take away their chance of making it in life, let us give them the tools they need.

Failure to pass the millage renewal June 14th would mean the loss of over $25 million from the schools operating budget. The district cannot lose this amount of money and continue to give our kids a decent education.

We have already laid off teachers, administrators, and other personnel. We have cut bus runs, reduced school hours from six to five with a resulting loss of programs. We have also closed elementary schools and a junior high as well.

After the voters of our community have just voted to eliminate an accumulated debt of $3 million, it would not make much sense to flush down the drain all the effort put into stabilizing the finances of the school district by not passing the millage renewal.

Please think of all these things when you go to the polls on June 14th. Also remember this 8.5 mills is not a new tax proposal, it is a renewal, and remember that most of us get much of our property tax back on the "circuit breaker."

Teachers back millage renewal

EDITOR — As two long-time American Government teachers in the Romulus school system, we encourage Romulus residents to exercise their voting rights in the June 14 millage renewal question.

Five years ago, the voters of Romulus Community Schools granted an 8.5 mill increase and the school board is asking to have this necessary levy continued.

While times are certainly difficult it must be remembered that our children and school are a major part of the backbone of our community. If the district is forced to cut $2.5 million from the budget, our schools will be faced with a disaster situation. Let's exercise our voting privilege on Monday June 14.

W-W election proves interesting

EDITOR — This is one of the better and most interesting Wayne-Westland Community school elections and campaign that I have ever seen around here in the past 20 years.

People are actually getting involved. They are asking questions and demanding answers from the schools and school officials.

People are taking sides. It seems as though the school people (W-W school employees) are lining up with Mr. Tom Barrett, the 16-year incumbent and giving him their support. I suppose that I would too if I worked for the schools. And it seems as though a large cross section of homeowners and taxpayers, many who had to make concessions and are lucky to be working, are apparently supporting Mr. Dewey Combs.

I'm personally lining up with Mr. Combs for several reasons.

The school people/educators seem to want total control of the system without any sort of interference. Not a bad idea in theory. But let me caution the readers that could be as bad or worse than the police or military state that people fear. Nothing corrupts like total power/control.

In closing, I wish both candidates good luck. Mr. Barrett, if you win, please make a better commitment to the whole community and don't forget the opposition if you don't or we'll be back better and stronger.

Mr. Combs, if you win, please don't forget your commitment to the community and the schools which are a part of the community.

And to the rest of the school officials a reminder that we expect better of them or they will be replaced.

Tribute to fire fighter

EDITOR — I appreciate the fine job of reporting that your paper portrays and believe it to be an outstanding publication.

From time to time things happen within our small community that you may or may not be aware of so I am addressing this letter to you today on a human interest story that you may want to follow up on.

It has been my privilege to serve as a fireman for the Van Buren Township Fire Department No. 1 for a number of years and last month, the man with the longest number of years of service for the entire township left the fire department force. He was Don Bluhm, who completed 36 years and had started his 37th year when he left the fire department force.

It seems to me that there may be a story in an individual like this who has served the public and the township as a fireman.

More on Dem endorsements

EDITOR — I would like the opportunity to say Mr. Charles T. Griffin is not the president of the Westland Democratic Club. That honor goes to Mr. Harry Greenfield. Further, the Westland Democratic Club, along with the Metro-Wayne Democratic Club are both endorsing Dewey V. Combs for the Wayne-Westland School Board.

It would be correct to say Mr. Griffin is the president of the League of Democratic Voters. As he stated: "it's one of the oldest clubs in the area". What he failed to say is that it's fast becoming the smallest regarding paid members. This may be attributed to some of their endorsements in the past and present.

It comes as no surprise that Mr. Griffin as president would announce Mr. Tom Barrett's endorsement, since it was Mr. Barrett as the past president last fall that announced the endorsement of Mr. Griffin. The interesting facts are that no candidates are invited to speak before any membership meetings. Further, Mr. Griffin is a union negotiator for the Michigan Education Association and Mr. Barrett a school teacher.

If this is a democratic selection of endorsing candidates without benefit of ever being invited to their meetings to speak, then we as voters are in trouble with this new endorsement process.

Bit of satire goes long way

EDITOR — Regarding Mrs. Runion's guest editorial of June 3: Goodness gracious, Mrs. Runion — was it something I said?

I would like to refer Mrs. Runion to a good dictionary, where she will find the definition of "satire." She might also benefit from reading Jonathon Swift's "A Modest Proposal."

We all pay for stolen items

EDITOR — You used to have a feature a long time ago that asked readers to identify what was wrong with "This Photo". In last week's Associated Newspapers' Profiles you had a bunch of shopping carts and the caption was beautiful: "Do you know where your cart is?"

Do people realize that the carts they "steal" from shopping centers add to the over-all cost of each and every item. Someday people will realize that merchants have to make some sort of profit to stay in business — and stealing, be it carts or shoplifting, are added costs which we all must pay for!

ROMULUS RESIDENT

Who's rec. director in V-B...

EDITOR — Of course I don't know all the reasons why Mark Rairick was "called on the carpet". But I am wondering when he left VB and became the Romulus Parks & Rec. Director?

After knowing Mark and his family since their coming to Belleville. I can only say they are a wonderful and good Christian family. I often wonder how many of us could do as many things in one month, that they seem to do in one week!

Our Parks & Rec. Dept. seemed blah as I remember before Mark came to town. I feel much more informed and interested in the township just knowing there are so many activities available. Not only for the kids, but us "big" kids too! I feel he is doing a wonderful job on only 20 hours per week.

I truly feel the article that appeared in last week's front page was an injustice to Mark. Not only because of the numerous errors, but for not telling the complete story.

VB RESIDENT

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Obviously those of us who have been on the local scene for the past 20 years realize that Mr. Rairick is the director of parks and recreation for the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department. Someone punched the wrong letters in the computer and the ANP proofreader didn't catch the error. We apologize for the inconvenience the typo may have caused.)

Thoughts about our Joyce

EDITOR — Your columnist, Joyce Hagelthorn, would be better off staying with the nebulous, that is, gossamer filament emanating from some ethereal power.

When Ms. Hagelthorn tries to deal with facts, she is on shaky grounds, indeed.

There is, of course, no amendment that imposes Ms. Murray's beliefs on anyone. Her argument is more properly with the Bill of Rights, the Supreme Court of the United States, and Thomas Jefferson.

The Supreme Court decision that I believe she is troubled by is intended to protect school children from Ms. Murray's religious beliefs, as well as all others. Religion belongs in the home.

Campaign's very 'dirty'

EDITOR — This is an open letter to the citizens of the Wayne-Westland School District, regarding the Wayne-Westland school board election.

I have been involved in a lot of elections, but this is the dirtiest election I have ever seen in some time.

For an example, recently the Teachers Union referred to candidate Combs and his supporters as Gestapo type supporters. This was in the action Newsletter put out by the Wayne-Westland Education Association. There has been false authors, lies, name-calling, destroying of signs.

Mr. Combs is a decent man honest and a hard worker he has never harmed any one.

I ask this question? What is the Administration afraid of?

Well, folks, let's tell it like it is. One word. Control. Political control. It seems that Mr. Combs has gone against the system-the political system. Who is in the political system? I can tell you. Some council people from Westland, and some from Wayne, and the present administration.

The question who is going to suffer from all this political hogwash. I can tell you folks, your kids will suffer. It seems no one cares about the kids or the taxpayers of Wayne Westland, and of course the employees of the district, kids are being used. Employees are being used, the only one can turn this around folks are you. This is my opinion. Vote Monday, June 14th.

reflections

A dream comes true

Sometimes it's hard to brag. For instance take the bragging I want to do today. How to begin? Shall I just come out and tell you how great I am, or should I just lead up to it gradually? (For those who take the written word literally, I honestly don't think I'm so great...all of the time, that is...just sometimes!)

Will you share with me, my reader the excitement of having my dream come true? Should I shout it from the housetops, or whisper it in the secret corners of wherever I am, or shall I just let you find out for yourself when you twist your dial to 1570, WWMN, and hear my voice? Make sure you dial between 12 noon and 1 p.m. every day, Monday through Friday.

I am a radio star! Well, maybe I am only a very tiny little star, almost lost in the vast spaces of radio-land, but nevertheless, I have a little spot way out there, twinkling away. Maybe the light from my tiny little starship may never shine thought that vast space, but what a lot of fun trying!

WWMN, (Woman) is a brand new station out of Flint. It is headed by a truly beautiful young woman, Marcia Kloor, who had a dream and went out and made it come true. Her Dream was a radio station aimed for the contemporary woman, run by the contemporary woman, programed by the contemporary woman, and then there's me.

There is one young man. His name is Jay and he is the musical director. He is also a scuba diver and maybe it's when he is down there under all that water, with the fish singing in his ears, and the waves making splashing sounds against his head, that he makes his tryst with the musical sound. Anyway, he's good.

What fun it has been working with Sally, and Linda, Marti and Suzie, learning to know them, letting me have a glimpse into their lives, letting me feel young and excited and one of them.

If the program lasts only a month, and it might, since it is a long way to drive to Flint every day, the experience has been one of those memorable things that will live in my heart forever, and those beautiful young people will remain a part of my family until the end of time.

One of the best things about being a senior citizen and having white hair and six, almost seven grandchildren, is that one finally learns that experiences, no matter how brief, should be savored and held close to one's heart until the time comes to let them go.

Nothing is ever absolutely permanent. But the memories are forever, and how wonderful it is to be able to go out into one's backyard on a gloriously sunny day, lean back in a lawn chair, with ice tinkling in a tall glass of iced tea, and walk through one's memories, feeling again the beauty, the excitement and the 'foreverness' of them.

As I grow older I am becoming more aware of how important it is to grab each day, hug it and vow that that day is going to be the best day of one's life. To look forward to its hours with excitement and joy, ever ready to touch each experience, savor it, and let it go, making ready for the next experience.

And now I have to run upstairs and get gorgeous for the drive to Flint, the happy greeting of those young ones, and the excitement of being a radio star, no matter how brief that experience might be.

Remember — WWMN — 1570 on your dial. AM that is!!

Draw big, black arrows pointing the way at the bottom of each sign. Place one at every cross street from every direction. Save the biggest one for the curb in front of your house and place it at right angles, so that it can be seen in either direction from at least five houses away.

Have someone check your signs often to make sure they're still there.

And last, but by far the most, when your sale is over, take down your signs. When they're still up there weeks after the sale, you deserve whatever happens to you. If, for instance, you come out one morning and find your outdated signs ripped up into a thousand tiny pieces and strewn all over your lawn, you'll know that one of us finally cracked under the strain of trying to find the garage sale that wasn't there.

'Garage sale' etiquette

In spite of it all, I still like garage sales.

In spite of what all? In spite of the fact that the unwritten rules about Garage Sales seem to have fallen by the wayside.

Maybe people have forgotten them. Maybe they never knew... Maybe—if I can remember them—I should remind them:

RULE NUMBER 1: If you can't be friendly, don't invite unsuspecting visitors into your garage. I stopped at a sale last week where the garage was plastered with signs: "Our prices are FIRM", "No kids allowed in the garage", "Printing machine for sale. If you aren't really interested, don't bother to ask about it."

Brother! It was so cold in there, I had to leave.

RULE 2: Don't follow people around to give them a rundown on every single item for sale. Most people can figure things out without a guide. If they can't, they'll ask. Then you can tell them. Briefly.

RULE 3: Don't let your dog be the official greeter. Even people who like dogs don't like official-greeter-dogs.

RULE 4: If you're going to sell crafts exclusively in your garage, warn people. Call it a "Crafts sale". Garage-salers and crafters are two entirely different breeds of people. Bargain hunters don't have time to look at crafts.

RULE 5: Please, please, please put prices on things. I went to a garage sale the other day where not one single item was priced. I had the feeling I was being "sized up" by the one quoting the prices. She was gauging how much I knew about prices and how much I could afford. I did a little "sizing up" myself and left, post-haste.

RULE 6: Don't use pens to write prices on anything. And if you use stickers, use pressure-sensitive ones that peel off. A lot of perfectly good things have been ruined by pens and stickers. Veteran sellers watch for those things now, after having been burned a time or two.

RULE 7: Don't have a garage sale if all you have to sell are things that should have gone into the trash, instead. Most people—with the exception of those who never take down their "garage sale" signs (We'll get to them in a minute) —are not totally stupid. They won't pay good money for junk. Would you?

RULE 8: If after the "blitz," you have only a few things left to sell, take down your signs and close the doors. Don't sit there in an empty garage telling people who have searched you out that they should have been here yesterday, before you sold all the good stuff. Not fair, not fair.

RULE 9: And now we come to the signs—those all-important, least understood sources of communication.

The object of putting up the signs is two-fold: First, it is to inform people that you are having a garage sale—and secondly, it is to show them the way to your garage.

It follows, then, that if you write that information in tiny letters with pencil on the side of a cardboard box, you are making life most difficult for the very people you want to attract.

Be bold! Be extravagant! Buy several large pieces of the heaviest poster board you can find, and, with the blackest, most indelible magic marker, indicate in big letters that you are having a garage sale at your address on

MARSHALL CRENSHAW
(Warner Bros.)

The debut album by native Detroit Marshall Crenshaw has finally been released, and, as anyone that was fortunate enough to see him in a club when he was still in the minor leagues will tell you, this guy's good!

But many groups don't adapt well to the big time. With a company like Warner Brothers over-looked, many a fine act has succumbed to pressure and simply fallen apart, sold out, or gotten terminal writer's block.

Happily, Marshall Crenshaw isn't one of those. Rather, he's made one of the best "rock & roll" albums to hit the stands in some time. Not quite rockabilly, not quite modern pop, but good, basic, fun rock & roll.

His vocals are sort of early Tom Petty cum James Dean. Emotional, a little twangy at times, but singing songs that make him at once vulnerable and in complete control. Mythical in heart, but the flesh is real.

As for the songs, well, since

Crenshaw's first fame came as a songwriter, it's no surprise that they're all top notch. His most famous number is "Someday, Someway," which was recorded by Robert Gordon. His own version is included here, and while Gordon's version has long been a favorite of mine, I like this one better.

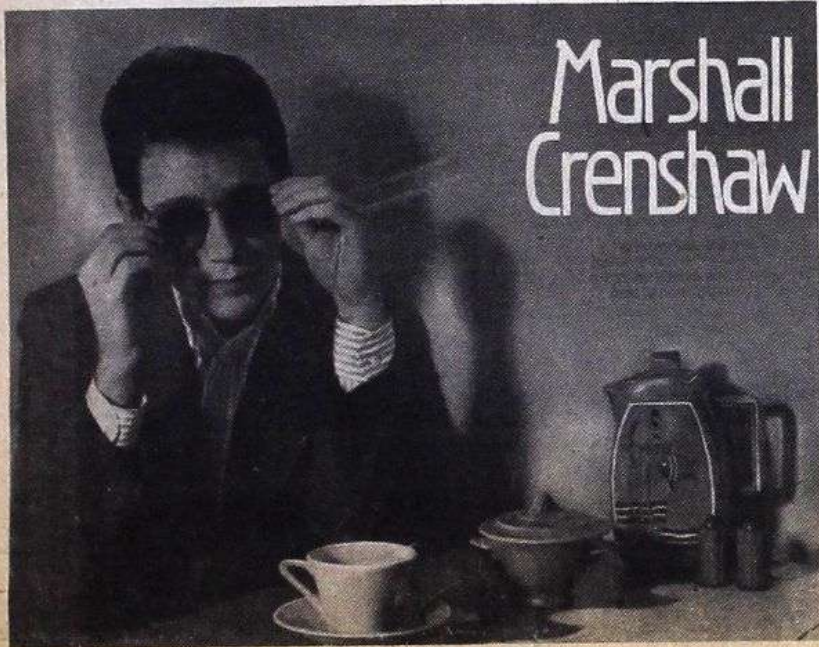

Other favorites include "Mary Anne," which should definitely be a single. Now, I don't know whether or not it was written before or after (before, I would think) Nick Lowe's "My Heart Hurts," but there is more than a little resemblance there. "She Can't Dance" was originally on the flip side of a local 45 Crenshaw released, and it's, as they used to say, a gas.

The best though, is "Cynical Girl," a marvelously catchy pop song with fantastic Phil Spector-ish production.

"Well I'm goin' out
I'm goin' out looking for a cynical girl
It's that simple.

Another aspect of Crenshaw's career has to do with John Lennon. Crenshaw played Lennon for two years in the play "Beatlemania." He quit "to be myself... or at least try."

And I'd say he's succeeded, because "Marshall Crenshaw" is an unqualified success.

Versatile performer

Carmen Joseph Yurich, son of Joseph and Donna Yurich of Wayne, has received numerous awards for his contributions in all areas of the theatre program at Central Michigan University. Currently acting the part of Harry Beaten in the musical Brigadoon in Homer, Michigan, Yurich earned a bachelor of fine arts degree in acting/directing last month from Central Michigan, where he also performed as lead male dancer in the Orchestris Dance Theatre. Yurich plans to move to New York City in the fall to pursue his career. Photo by Brian W. Becker.

Warren Valley

Renowned catering firm brings top service to country club

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

"Your satisfaction determines our future" is a motto of the Detroit Olympia Catering, Inc. professionals who now handle all banquet and catering services at the Warren Valley Country Club in Dearborn Heights.

And judging by its impressive list of satisfied clients, the future for Detroit Olympia Catering and Warren Valley Country Club appears very bright indeed.

One of the state's largest catering firms, Detroit Olympia Catering has prepared menus for visitors to the National Republican Convention, the Grand Prix, Manoojian Mansion, Bob-lo, Joe Louis Arena and Cobo Arena. Its cooks and experienced staff feels comfortable in any setting whether it be an Italian buffet for Frank Sinatra, 10,000 box lunches for UAW members, an office party for 25 persons or a small gathering at home.

BOB COLE

"We're a large company which means we can offer lower prices than the small caterer due to the discounts we receive for our volume," explained General Manager Joe Wright. "In one month we may purchase $14,000 worth of meat alone... we've handled up to 13 parties in one day.

"At the Republican Convention we served 2½ tons of food a day, 19 hours a day," he added. "One of our biggest challenges was once serving 1,000 prime rib dinners for a sit down dinner that we served out of a truck with warmers."

"We've done everything from exclusive gourmet dinners to hot dogs and pop for the kids," said Wright, speaking from one of the firm's offices at the Warren Valley Country Club lounge. "Tonight we're having an eighth grade graduation party here."

Since assuming control of the spacious banquet facilities at Warren Valley, Detroit Olympia Catering owners Nick Christy and Dennis Silber have committed to turning the facility into a first-class operation.

Among the immediate improvements has been the opening of the main dining room to accommodate 300 persons (an additional 100 persons on the second level), new light fixtures, mirrors in the bar area, new dance floor, new roof and new carpeting in the ballroom.

"They (owners) have made a large investment here to bring back a country club atmosphere," declared Banquet Manager Bob Cole. "The golf courses (36 regulation holes) are owned by the Wayne County Road Commission but we supply the food and drinks for many golf outings."

"Our bookings are starting to fill up—I suggest that anyone interested in planning a party call us at 277-5600 as soon as possible."

Now before anyone gets the idea that Detroit Olympia Catering only serves the elite—Frank Sinatra, Neil Diamond, Republican Convention, etc.—, it should be noted that this firm literally provides quality refreshments for any pocketbook.

"People give us a call and tell us what they want to spend, then we fit something to their budget," Cole explained. "The majority of our business comes from referrals. Our customers are our salesmen."

And satisfied customers are doing a lot of talking these days over the changes at the Warren Valley Country Club, located at 26116 Warren west of Beech Daly.

They're talking about the scenic view of the golf course from the air-conditioned banquet facilities. They're impressed with the variety of entrees from which to choose for their party, ranging from prime rib, cornish hens, chicken, short ribs of beef, beef stroganoff and meat balls to homemade sausages, turkey, stuffed cabbage, ham and top sirloin.

Add a choice of potatoes, hot vegetables, numerous salad varieties, stuffings, pastas, special sauces and fruits along with complete bar service and any meal is complete.

For outside parties, $6 or $7 per person (depending on party size) buys a buffet dinner of three meats (top sirloin of beef, roasted chicken and sausage), pasta with homemade Italian meat sauce, choice of vegetable, three kinds of salad, assorted rolls and butter, desserts and beverages.

"We guarantee more than you can eat at every party," remarked Wright. "And if we don't like the food, we don't serve it. Food and service are of vital importance to us."

In addition to servicing banquets and parties every day at the Warren Valley Country Club, Detroit Olympia Catering also specializes in coordinating all types of ethnic parties, costumes, decorations, bands and dancers for your special occasion at any site.

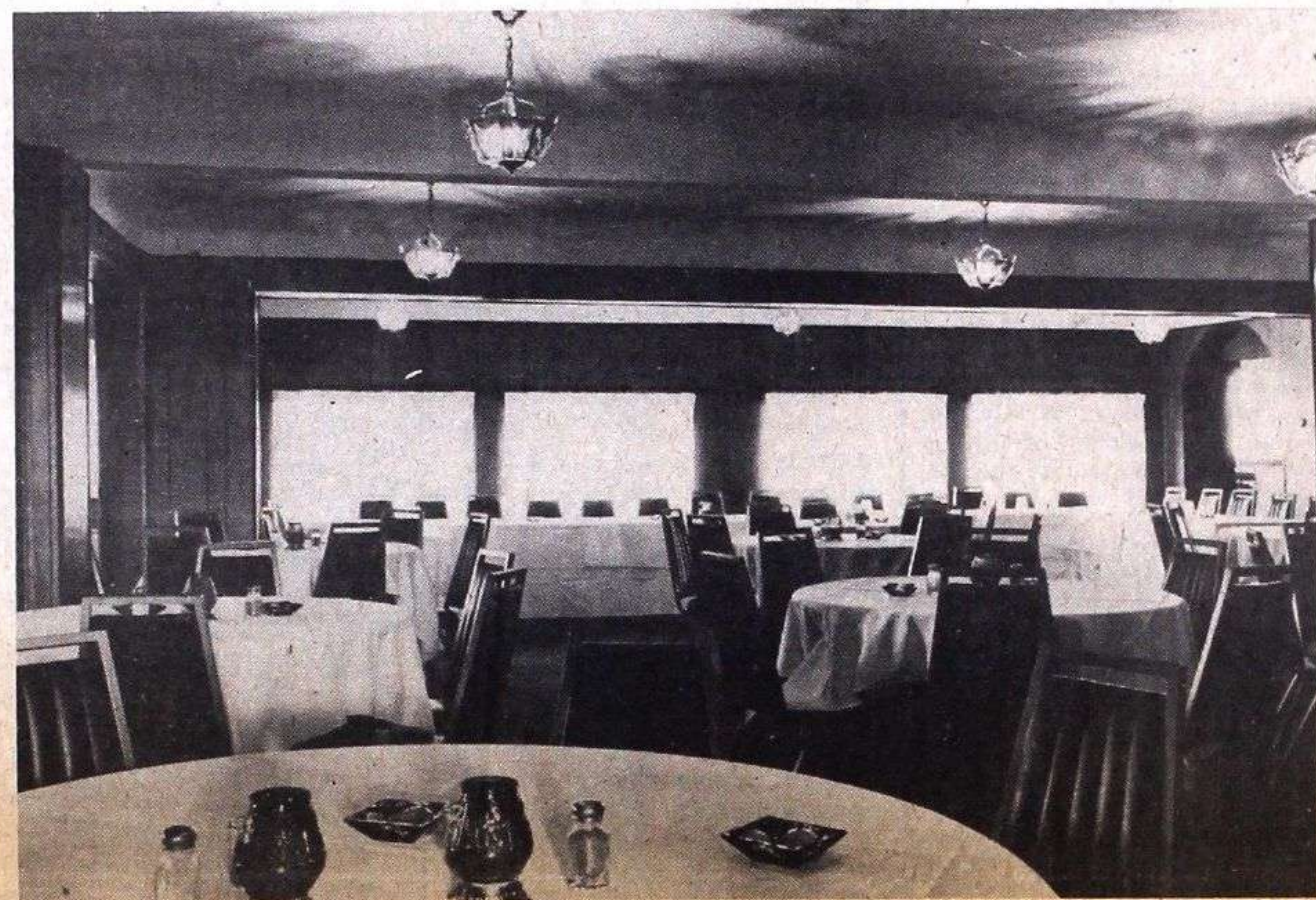

"No event need be expensive" is another company motto. When the motto comes from a firm known for quality across the state, that's saying quite a mouthful.

Aukee is member of top ensemble

Josef Aukee, a 1979 graduate of Wayne Memorial High, is a member of a vocal ensemble at Belmont College in Nashville, Tennessee which recently captured a third-place award in national competition.

The ensemble, "Company," won District and Regional honors before placing third with its presentation of Broadway tunes in a national event sponsored by the Johnny Mann Singers. The group earned a $10,000 cash prize for the college.

Aukee, a music business major at Belmont, is the son of Dr. Waino and Sylvia Aukee of Wayne. Dr. Aukee serves as principal of McKee Elementary School in Westland.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

The long drive into work, luckily, can be varied — there are about four main arteries with at least as many variations — so throughout the weeks, I cover a lot of different territory. It's fascinating and interesting (and educational) to see what people do or don't do to their homes and to watch huge fields of turned rich, black soil change to hints of greenery and then lush fields of corn or soy beans or blankets of wheat.

It's remarkable what a few red or pink geraniums will do for an otherwise nondescript house — those swatches of color working like a dash of lipstick on a pale face. Blossoming trees and bushes earlier in the spring could turn a simple bungalow into a miniature paradise and, oh, the aroma of those lilacs, one of the most heavily perfumed crops in years!

How about white picket fences or split rail types, ornate wrought iron grillwork or stone walls; they can work like a touch of lace on a basic dress. And the placement of such perennials as poppies, irises, peonies, tulips, daffodils and their sister blooms can cause many a double take for passers-by.

This planting season, however, there's a big void on one of my routes — one of "the" most productive, well-organized and immaculately maintained spreads has been abandoned — left to weeds. It makes me want to stop in and ask "why?"

After miles and miles of rolling farm land to motor through, it's the smaller plots that catch the eye and break the monotony. The after-work type gardeners are still giving it a go — knowing there's just nothing quite like a tomato picked fresh from the vines or sweet corn with its sweet milk oozing from its pores. Those minute and well-planned rows always make me think of Mr. McGregor's garden — Peter Rabbit so often being shown with a "city-size" patch in the background.

And flowers seem to abound in huge arrangements — one bunch of irises running parallel to the road for about 75 feet, stately and regal in their majestic purples, pale lavenders, pinks, and whites which continue into the spectrum of yellows, golds, oranges, beiges. GORGEOUS!

A few miles earlier the driver is treated to whopping beds of brilliant red-orange poppies dancing in the breeze, taking over where their Dutch kinfolk left off.

And there are driveways and yards which could win hands-down if layout and construction awards for such ingenuity were given. So many utilize railroad ties in bank effects or in the plateau manner (with alyssum, creeping phlox, myrtle and assorted ground covers for accent). Others have taken advantage of rock-filled fields and collected enough for supporting walls on sloping drives.

Still other imaginative land-scapers have gone the nautical route and placed pilings to resemble dockwork along their entryways. Clever, talented, versatile people, those!

And the barns! Now I have a thing for barns so, having my path cut through so many acres of farms, I just ENJOY. The older the barn, the better, since its history is written in its architecture, its roof and foundation (often huge rocks) doors, trim, and accompanying buildings — a story at a glance. The fire engine reds and the sophisticated greys never seem to upstage the old weather-sided structures however. They're all really beautiful targets for a camera lens or sketch pad.

There's a lot to be said for a drive in the country — including the fact those interesting "subjects" along the way really help keep a gal awake. And, too, so do the souvenirs of a hard winter — those potholes!

BIG DEAL, YOU SAID?

If, on reading last week's intro to "potpourri" (the one about my stove) you came up with "Big deal!" when I said the range was three weeks old and I was maintaining it beautifully, you DO have cause to wonder.

"What is she, some kind of weird-o?" you probably asked yourself. A clean stove for three weeks, terrific! Well, fellow mind-wanderers, that was supposed to have read three YEARS. Now do you understand?

SIGN OF OUR TIMES

The businessman handed the hotel manager a bouquet of flowers. "It's for the switchboard operator," he said.

The manager looked pleased. "Thank you, sir. I'm sure Miss Doe will appreciate the compliment on her fine service."

"Service!" roared the businessman. "I thought she was dead."

STILL MORE 'BOUT "THE TWINS"

So you're a Gemini — that means you need a place with lots of bookshelves since books have a special place in your heart. You probably have half a dozen dictionaries and two thesauruses and any number of other reference books. You spend a great deal of time in book stores and even more time in libraries.

As a Gemini, you're so compulsive that a crooked picture will drive you crazy if you can't straighten it and someone's placement (or mis-placement) of silverware while dining will set your teeth on edge.

Your mind is quick and bright but you don't always put it to good use. You tend to scatter your energies so much that you never stick to any one thing, including what you happened to consider very important at a given moment.

And because you have a mind that moves in too many directions, you drive the people around you crazy. Your constant need to move often finds you peeling the layers of your paper napkin or cutting up the tablecloth (paper, of course) with your fork. You really want to sit still and be a calm adult but can't seem to do so and the people around you about go mad with your hyperactiveness.

You have a wealth of creative talents but don't always put them to use. Chances are you're a frustrated musician, painter or writer.

And this week those type of personalities include Tom Jones, Rocky Graziano and Jessica Tandy who totaled 175 years collectively and, as individuals, were 42, 60 and 73 respectively, on June 7.

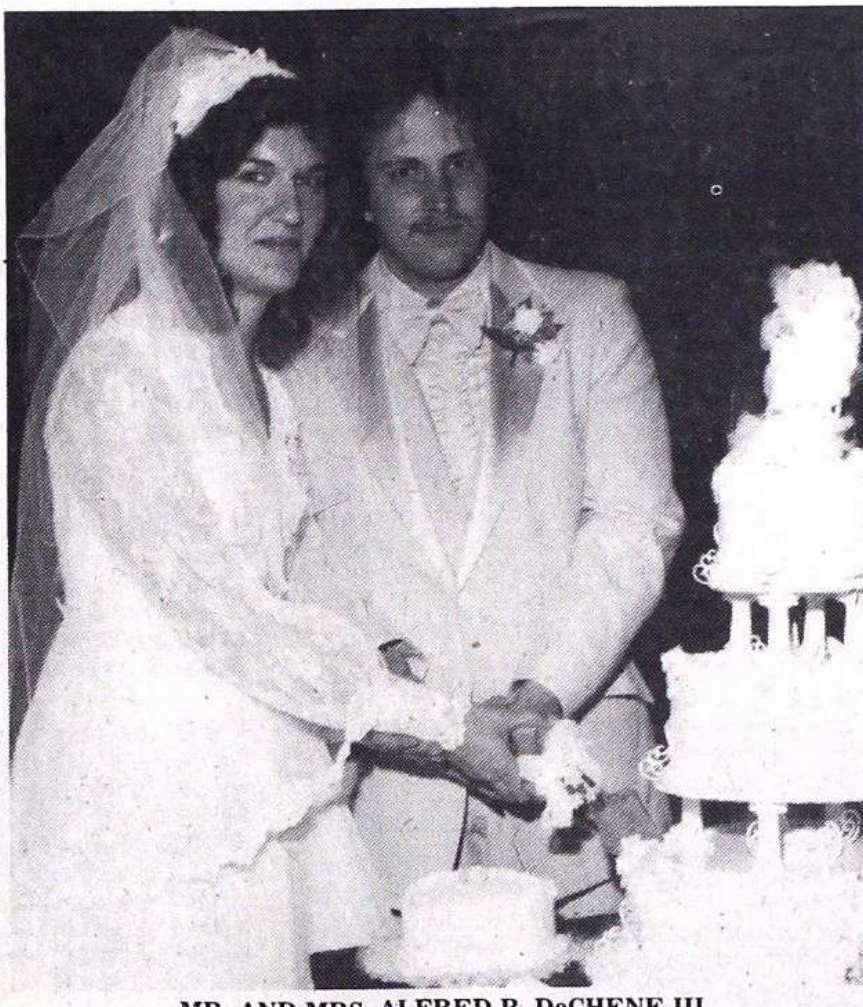

Frank's getting old — what with his eldest, Nancy Sinatra, turning 42 yesterday. Alexis Smith was 61; James Darren 46, and Robert (Music Man) Preston was 64.

Today the Pennsylvanians are striking up "Happy Birthday" for Fred Waring who's 82 and, if he's within listening distance, for Bob Cummings who's 10 years his junior — 72.

Mrs. Fred MacMurray, June Haver, has a 56th birthday on the 10th and on the 11th the stork delivered Chad Everett 45 years ago; Rise Stevens, 69 years ago and Gene Wilder, 47 years ago.

Vic Damone and Jim (Gomer Pyle) Nabors have a mutual natal date and will be 54 and 49, respectively, on the 12th.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Money may not buy happiness but it helps you look for it in more interesting places.

Computer Pix '82 is for teen readers

Teens looking for a good book for summertime reading can get help from a computer and the Fred C. Fischer Public Library.

Starting in June and running through July 29, the library will offer an individualized summer reading program, Computer Pix

'82, matching up teens grades 6-12, with a selection of books.

With the use of the computer of the Wayne Oakland Library Federation Co-operative, young adults receive a personalized printout of books matched to their interests.

Teens fill out a short form at the Library; the form is sent to the WOLF Co-op. where it is fed into the computer. The printouts, with the person's name and the recommended books, will be available at the library in August.

This is a free library service.

Lottie and Milford Prince

DeChene-Morris wed at St. Aloysius'

St. Aloysius Catholic Church was the setting April 17 for the spring wedding of Jan Morris and Alfred P. DeChene III, both of Romulus. The young couple exchanged vows and rings before The Rev. Walter Lezuchowski and some 130 guests at ten o'clock in the morning.

The ceremony joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morris of 15000 Knollway, Romulus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. DeChene Jr. of 9350 Biddle, Romulus.

Music for the occasion was played by Kenneth Krueger and sung by Michelle DeChene.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of chiffon over taffeta designed with a Queen Anne neckline, long sheer sleeves, a lace-covered bodice and lace-trimmed chapel train.

A little lace cap secured her lace-banded silk illusion veil which was cut in fingertip length. Completing her bridal ensemble was a cascade bouquet of roses, orchids, gypsophila and baby's breath.

For her role as maid of honor, Donna Repp of Romulus wore a pale lavender dress fashioned with a pleated skirt and matching chiffon cape which draped over the shoulders. She tucked a comb of baby's breath and gypsophila in her hair and carried a bouquet of day lilies, azaleas, gypsophila and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical lavender outfits were Michelle DeChene of Romulus, sister of the bridegroom, and Gail Doom of Taylor, cousin of the bride.

Youngsters in the bridal coterie were 8-year-old Kristie Grosos and 3-year-old Gene Morris Jr., niece and nephew of the bride. Kristie donned a little pink and lavender floral chiffon frock and added a halo of gypsophila and baby's breath as a headpiece.

The bridegroom asked his cousin, Barry Sell of Romulus, to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Grosos of Taylor and Gene Morris of Inkster, both brothers of the bride.

At the reception, which followed at Camoron Hall in Taylor, the bride's mother greeted guests in a rose-colored street-length dress and white accessories. For her son's wedding, Mrs. DeChene donned a pale blue handkerchief-hemmed dress with white accessories. Both mothers were honored with corsages of roses and baby's breath to match their outfits.

Following a honeymoon in the South, the newlyweds took up residence in Belleville. Both are graduates of Romulus High School and the bridegroom is employed at William C. Frank's Furniture.

Gloria and S.K. Pullen

40th anniversary party also marks retirement

Forty years of togetherness were celebrated May 22 when relatives and friends gathered at Pine Creek Country Club to honor S. K. and Gloria Pullen on their ruby wedding anniversary. The party also marked the pending retirement of Mr. Pullen on June 3 after a quarter century with Draw-Tite of Belleville as well as his 65th birthday which fell the day after the celebration.

Life-long residents of this area, the Pullens exchanged marriage vows on May 12, 1942 before Justice of the Peace Bert Post in Belleville. The former Gloria Bradley of Romulus, Mrs. Pullen and her husband later became parents of three children.

That trio: Valerie Gondek of Belleville, Jack of Milford and Sandra Marlowe of Belleville, along with their spouses: Stan, Shirley and Dave, played host at the reception. The Pullen family tree also includes six grandchildren.

Among those congratulating the honored pair were guests from Elizabethtown, N. C.; Miami, Fla. and Denver, Colo. as well as from throughout Michigan. Evelyn Pullen of Belleville, who had been honor attendant at the 1942 wedding, was present; her husband, Chuck the best man, was in Peru and unable to attend.

The Pullens, who reside at 14285 Elwell Rd., Belleville, both served with the U. S. Air Force during World War II, are life members of the National Rifle Association (NRA) and the Pine Creek Country Club where they golf. Mrs. Pullen is still employed at the University of Michigan.

Open house to honor Prince's 50th year

An open house on June 13 will mark the golden wedding anniversary of a life-long area resident, Milford W. Prince, and his Connecticut-born wife, Lottie Barlog Prince, who exchanged marriage vows in Standish on June 15, 1932. The couple made their home on Sumpter Road until 1967 when they moved to their present address at 61 Montague St., Belleville.

The couple's only daughter, Dorothy Loshinskie, her husband Carl, and their two children, Carla and Calvin, will host the 2-5 p.m. celebration planned for the Belle Plaza Hall. The family hopes to have friends stop by during that time.

Born in Sumpter Township, Mr. Prince retired in 1976 after 20 years employment in the physics department at the University of Michigan. Prior to that he worked as a tool and gauge maker at various jobbing shops. With his wife, a homemaker, he enjoys gardening, traveling and working with young people of the community. The Princes, who are responsible for revitalizing baccalaureate services at Belleville High School, have as their motto "To live is to live for others", "OTHERS" being the message on their personalized license plate as well.

Short subjects

• Brush your tongue for sweeter breath. According to the magazine, some people have tongues with irregular surfaces that accumulate food debris which decays and causes odor. Brushing your tongue removes the debris.

• Whoops, there goes a filling or cap, and the hole in your tooth feels like the Grand Canyon. The tooth may be sensitive and you may want to protect the cavity from food particles. What you need is a temporary repair. Make your own from two drugstore items: zinc oxide and oil of cloves (eugenol). Mix them to form a white paste. The paste hardens fast, so pack it quickly into the cavity and clean up the edges. The repair will dry to a firm, bright white and should hold for two or three days. By then, you should be able to see your dentist for a more permanent solution.

Serving your pet

Westland Dog Food Company has new Wayne location

Seven out of 10 Americans feel that their pet is an important member of the family. This attitude is part of what has helped the Westland Dog Food Company to become one of the Midwest's largest selling private label dog foods.

Even in today's times which are hard-pressing other retailers, this company has been experiencing an unbroken and dramatic growth pattern. With the opening of the Wayne store at 34831 Michigan Ave., Westland Dog Food Company now has five family-owned stores and 40 dealers with sales in excess of one million dollars at the wholesale level.

Founder and President Lou Fourment projects 1982 sales of $1.8 million with 25 additional dealers. Although expansion has modernized operations, it's still a family-operated show with wife, Betty, sons Steve and Bob, and daughter-in-law Kim.

The Fourments feel so strongly about the quality of their brands that they offer a money-back guarantee to retail customers in addition to nine different mixes from low fat to high stress and also cat foods. One reason for offering so many different mixes is difference in terms of nutritional requirements for each dog, Fourment notes.

"Too often dog owners fail to realize what their own dogs' requirements are," he adds. "Each dog is unique and his system requires different and varying amounts of important nutrients to maintain good health."

"The proper balance of vitamins, protein, fat and fiber depend greatly upon a dog's individual breed, age, size and level of activity. Care must be given to these factors before choosing the dog food needed to maintain a correct diet."

The Fourments are able to sell the Westland Dog Food line at prices less than national brands because they are a family operation with low overhead.

Steve Fourment, Vice President-Operations, says "We feature one of the most complete lines of formulas, even more than the industry's giant. Our sales people are there to help you select the proper formula for your dog. And all our feeds meet the high standards set by the National Research Council."

Westland's success with private labeling is part of a national trend based upon consumers' growing acceptance of house labels and generic products. Private labels now comprise 6.7 percent of the total national market and are growing.

Steve Fourment adds, "We think our success is based on having a top-flight manufacturer, International Multifoods, making Class A products. Freshness is a key — we deliver the product to our stores within one week of its manufacture."

The market for dry dog food has been steadily expanding. Industry totals show sales to have increased 11.5 percent over the prior year to nearly $1.4 billion for 1980 (the latest figures available).

The least likely part of the Westland Dog Food story lies in its origin as an outgrowth of Lou Fourment's raising field trial beagles. He has owned seven field champions, including three international field champions, and has won about 50 field trials throughout the United States.

Back in 1967, Lou bought his first ton of Peppy dog food, which after experimenting with various mixes, kept his dogs in top competitive form.

After selling the food from his kennel, he went into his own private label (as well as continuing to sell Peppy). The business aspect began in earnest when his kennel was re-modeled and soon after he opened a retail store on Ford Road in Westland. Hence, the brand and the company name.

The other two family-owned Westland Dog Food retail stores are located in Redford and now in Wayne; the outlets in Melvindale and Southgate are called Dog Food Specialists.

And to what are the Fourments' future plans for bigger things based?

"We just developed and marketed our own generic brand," says Steve, "to take advantage of a trend showing that within the industry, generic sales have doubled in just the last year. Also, we will have a new High Stress formula to compete with more expensive high protein/high fat brands. And we're seeking dealers for several key areas."

The Fourments have also just completed an expansion of their five self-owned stores into carrying a broad line of fish supplies to go with the dog/cat foods and supplies. They also plan on continuing their active promotion plans.

For as Lou Fourment states, "You have to let people know that what you have is better. So we do that and let the buyers decide for themselves."

Here's how to expand your summer earnings

Over 17 million young people are expected to compete for 14 million jobs this summer in an extraordinarily tight market. Jobs in both the public and private sectors have been decreasing.

The Department of Labor's Summer Jobs for Youths program alone lost funding for about 80 to 120 thousand jobs. In addition, students may have to compete with the nation's more than 10 million unemployed workers.

These factors make it more important than ever to get the most from your summer paycheck. To many, that means increasing the amount of take-home pay by not having taxes withheld unnecessarily.

If you're a student, unmarried, and your total income for the year (summer and school year) is $3,300 or below, you're probably exempt from any federal income tax but not from Social Security tax. If so, you should claim yourself exempt on the Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate (Form W-4).

For example, let's say you earn the minimum wage of $3.35 an hour. If you work 40 hours a week for the 13 weeks of summer, your earnings will be only $1,742 and you will not be subject to income tax.

Students who work in industries where tips and overtime add a substantial amount to income should be careful. Remember, when estimating your summer earnings, to include any tips you anticipate since they are taxable income.

You can only claim yourself exempt, however, if you did not owe taxes last year, you received a full refund on taxes paid, and you don't expect to owe taxes this year. Students who earn more than $3,300, year-round workers who earn income from other sources and anyone with more than $1,000 in dividend or interest income should talk with their employers about withholding.

Although the amount of tax these people will owe could be small, some employers may withhold taxes at the annual salary rate instead of the total earnings.

Let's say you're a law student earning $350 weekly. That would be an annual salary of $18,200 if you worked all year. If you work only the 13 weeks of summer, your total salary comes to $4,550. Because you make more than $3,300, you must have taxes withheld.

If your employer withholds federal income tax at the annual rate, you will have $65.14 withheld weekly. Withholding on $4,550 amounts to only $5.77 a week.

If you work full-time during nine months of the year, and hold a seasonal job during the summer, you should also investigate your tax status. Consider how much tax is being withheld from your full-time, permanent position and how much income your summer earnings will add. Make sure the tax withheld will cover the extra income tax — or put the money aside to have when taxes are due.

In calculating your summer earnings, don't ignore their effect on your dependency on your parents. If you earn $3,100 and the total cost of your support is $6,000, you provide more than half your own support and your parents can't claim a $1,000 exemption for you as a dependent.

If they're in the 50 percent tax bracket, your extra $100 of income costs them $500 in after-tax dollars.

By DR. ERNEST SORINI

I was watching young Gary Coleman from the television show "Different Strokes" do his thing the other night and it reminded me of the old hip adage, "different strokes for different folks."

In keeping with the onset of the summer months and with my theme in the recent past of discussing problems which can occur as a result of the weather, I would like to address the problem of so-called "heat syndromes."

Although warmth can be of definite positive value when it comes from the tropical sun in mid winter or from one's cozy, warm bed at 11 a.m. in mid semester, extremes of heat are probably even more devastating than extremes of cold on the human body.

This is similar to the situation that would obtain if you consider which newspaper would be more readable — one that is burnt or one that is frozen. Obviously, the newspaper which is frozen is ultimately the more readable once it thaws.

In the case of the effects of heat on the human body, often the harmful affects of extremes of body and ambient heat are irreversible and dictate that the extremes of body heat be treated very vigorously.

First of all, it is very important to understand what contributes to elevated body temperatures in the summertime.

I will exclude infections, mainly because I will deal with the effects of infections and their concurrent temperature elevations at a later date.

In addition to infections, several factors play a part in the development of pathologically high body temperatures:

- Most obviously, high ambient temperatures — temperatures in the low 80's to upper 90's can be exceedingly harmful to the human body as they may overcome the body's ability to cool itself off.

- Low wind velocities — as the body sweats it depends upon the ability of the surrounding air to evaporate the sweat to cool the body. If there is little or no wind the ability of the air movement against the body will, of necessity, decrease the amount that the body can be cooled.

- Ambient humidity — this relates to number two. If there is already a lot of moisture in the air, evaporation takes place very slowly or not at all. When this occurs the body's only real mechanism for cooling itself is automatically shut off, and if this persists the body, when exposed to extremes of temperature, low wind velocity and high humidity, may develop pathologic heat syndrome.

- Medications — there are many medications which are known to alter the body's sweating response — of particular interest are the tranquilizing drugs and sleeping medications commonly prescribed. A typical case of pathologic hyperthermia, or high body temperature, would be in a little old lady resident of a nursing home who has been put on tranquilizers and placed in a room without a fan and which is not air conditioned and in which the ambient temperature rises to 98 degrees and the humidity is 60%. Within a very short time because the tranquilizers prevent sweating, because the ambient temperature increases body heat, because the relative humidity prevents any sweating that might occur, and because of relative lack of air movement, this patient is a prime candidate for the development of heat stroke.

Heat stroke is characterized by pathologically high levels of body temperature — temperatures as high as 111 degrees F have been recorded. It is also characterized usually by a lack of sweating, although at times some patients will exhibit some sweating.

In addition, patients are often delirious or confused and may even become comatose.

It is very important to recognize heat stroke when it occurs because it is possible to reverse the pathologic effects on the brain and other systems by immediately cooling the patient by immersing him in ice water.

Of course, the old adage that prevention is better than cure holds true here as well, and in this regard it is very wise to anticipate hot, humid, windless days and act accordingly so as to prevent the development of heat stroke.

In subsequent editions I will discuss heat exhaustion and "Stoker's cramps."

Katona joins Air Force

Michael A. Katona, 18, son of George and Sharon Katona, 15549 Brandt, Romulus, has entered the U. S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Ed Lehmann, the Air Force recruiter here, Katona will commence four years active duty on January 14, 1983, undergoing six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Katona, a 1982 graduate of Romulus High School, will then receive Inventory Management Specialist training, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Pvt. Marcus R. Montgomery, son of Paulea F. Bates of 7200 Merriman, Romulus, has graduated as an armor crewman at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

The training was conducted under the one station unit training (OSUT) program, which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training into one 13-week period.

During the course, students received training in the duties of a tank crewman, including firing the tank's armament and small weapons. Instruction was also given in field radio operations, map reading, and tank maintenance and repair.

Pvt. David F. Turner, son of Ralph F. and Brenda Turner of 6598 Haggerty, Belleville, has completed a tracked-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course, students were trained to repair engines, transmissions, and the fuel, electrical and air hydraulic systems of the Army's tracked vehicles. They also learned to perform recovery operations for abandoned, damaged, disabled or mired vehicles.

Turner will now serve in South Korea. He is a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School.

Airman Joseph C. Schieda, son of Susan R. Schieda of 15329 Meadow, Romulus, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the maintenance analysis field. He is a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School.

Trial Friday morning at 9 a.m. I returned to court on Friday and again I waited... and waited... and waited... some more. It is now noon and I am still waiting.

Being an attorney requires a lot of patience, stamina and gentleness. Am I being taught the patience of Job?

The judge now recesses for lunch until 2 p.m. I'm tired. My case is adjourned for one week. Now I wait some more.

What will happen next week?

'Home Boy' looks for pro career with Lions

He had the opportunity to play in the Pontiac Silverdome while attending Wayne State University, but Mark Grabowski of Westland is hoping to play there on a more permanent basis... as a member of the Detroit Lions football team.

Grabowski recently became a free agent with the Lions, after spending one year with the semi-pro West Virginia Rockets of the American Football Association.

Football has been a part of his life for the past 11 years. Because of his weight, Grabowski didn't play in the Little League, but once at Stevenson Junior High School, he joined the team, playing both offense and defense.

"I try to get there every day, so they remember my face. I want them to know I'm out there seriously trying to make the team." — Mark Grabowski.

Grabowski continued in football at John Glenn High School, where he played nose guard and tight end and did all the kicking and punting for the team. While at Glenn, Grabowski did as much as he could to make himself "more valuable" to the team, but once at WSU, he began his specialization in defensive line.

He admits that by the time he went to college he had it in his mind that he would make it to a National Football League team... "somewhere," but on the recommendation of his high school coach Lloyd Carr, who is now handling the defensive line at the University of Michigan, Grabowski passed up being a free agent for the New England Patriots to get some experience in the semi-pros.

As Grabowski sees it, that one year with the West Virginia Rockets "was the next best thing to being in the NFL." His coach and assistant coach both were veterans of the NFL, with some 27 years experience, and ran the team as if it were in the NFL.

It was earlier this year that Grabowski heard from a sports agent in New York that the Detroit Lions were interested in him, and after visiting with the Lions management, signed on as a free agent with a one-year option on May 17.

Admittedly, it's a long shot. A hometown boy making it to the hometown team. However, Grabowski has a positive attitude. In fact, he was frank with the Lions management that all he is looking for is a chance. With that chance, he hopes to make it.

"I've never had any doubt that I would be on an NFL team," he said, "only when, and I didn't think it would be with the Detroit Lions."

Grabowski will be reporting for the Lions' Rookie Camp on July 21, and in the meantime is working on building up his endurance and strength and getting his time (5.3 seconds) down for the 40-yard dash.

He heads out to the Silverdome five days a week to work with the Lions, and has been practicing spotting with Lion Ken Fantetti. As a free agent, he's hoping to make it to the defense as either a middle guard or tackle.

"I try to get out there every day, so they remember my face," he explained. "I want them to know I'm out there seriously trying to make the team."

Three days a week he works on his upper body — chest, shoulders and arms — while three days are set aside for developing his lower body and endurance running. He does sprint workouts and to help build up his endurance runs up and down the stairs at the Silverdome.

"I played at the Silverdome once before and would like to play there again. I'm not here yet, but I'm trying." — Mark Grabowski.

He also has earned the nickname of Home Boy from some of Lion's team members, a name he speculates is because he is from the Detroit area, a rarity for the team, since players are from as far away as California and Texas.

The Lions' training camp will be at Oakland University, where for some five to six weeks the players will be in practice twice a day and watching training films. Grabowski has heard that the camp is more to test the players ability to hold up mentally, rather than physically, under pressure.

Player cuts will be made along the way, during the camp, and Grabowski's plan is to be among the 45 players team when the final cuts are made in September.

Grabowski isn't quite as tall as some of the other members of Detroit's defensive line, standing 6 foot 2 and weighing 250 pounds. However, he hasn't found it that hard to throw around AFA players, who stand 6-foot 9 and weigh 300 pounds.

He is finding his family is behind him in his quest for a spot on an NFL team, so much so that an idea of buying a motorcycle to save on expenses of traveling back and forth to the Silverdome for practice ended with a parental offer to pay for the gas for his van.

"I guess they didn't want my career to end before it got started."

His two brothers, he has found, are pushing him to try a little harder, while his sister keeps track of what foods he eats, making sure he eats enough to keep his weight up.

Grabowski is still in awe of being in the Silverdome with the Lions and admits that as he headed up the tunnel to the playing field for the first time he couldn't believe it was happening to him.

While he would like a career in the NFL, Grabowski has set a limit on how long he will wait for that to materialize — one to two years. If he doesn't make it to the Lions this year, he still has a chance to try next year. To fill in the time between his chances, he'll pack up his degree in finance and find a job.

If Mark Grabowski has his way, he won't be job hunting until after a long and fruitful football career. He's "not in the Silverdome yet, but I'm trying."

Belleville captures 'A' district baseball title

Unleashing their power when it counted the most, Belleville High jolted Ann Arbor Huron 6-5 to capture their first Class A District baseball championship in more than a decade.

Belleville scored three times in the opening inning, then hung on as the Hurons rallied in the top of the seventh on a three-run homer by Dave Muller. The Tigers won the title on Jeff Morris' single and qualified for Saturday's Regional Playoffs scheduled Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial.

"I'm really proud of these kids," said Belleville coach Tom Fielder. "When they're up against the wall, they come through and each and every one is contributing toward our victory."

Belleville had to get past an improved Wayne Memorial club in the first round of the playoffs in Brighton to get a shot at Huron. And it didn't look good for the Tigers who fell behind 3-2 after the opening inning.

However, Belleville came up with what proved to be enough runs in the second inning when Sam Villa hammered a 2-run homer to cool the Tigers and go on to win.

In the championship game, Jim Daniels, who wielded a "hot bat" in the opener with three hits in four trips to the plate, got aboard and advanced to second. He scored the winning run when Morris drilled a double.

"I don't know what the pairing for the regionals are at present," said Fielder on Monday. "But you know it's going to be tough now each game we play."

Belleville takes a 11-10-1 over-all record into Saturday's regionals.

In the meantime, Belleville's hopes to win a softball district title was ruined by Plymouth Salem who capitalized on seven Tiger miscues to win a 6-3 decision at the Class A crown at Canton.

"You can't commit that many errors against a team of Salem's caliber and hope to pull it out," said Belleville Coach Peggy Curtis. "We tried and that's all I can ask of my players."

Belleville ended Romulus' season in the first round of the playoffs, routing the Eagles 9-0 to qualify for the championship.

Westland begins softball action

Leaseway didn't waste any time and quickly established itself as the "team to beat" in the Westland Parks and Recreation men's Class A softball league.

With Bob Goodlow hammering a homer and triple and picking up a pair of RBI's, Leaseway throttled Royal Transmission 16-10 to remain perfect in the league. The league pacesetters have won all nine of their games this season.

John Sampson also connected for three hits, including a pair of doubles while Bill May and Gary Shiemkee each had four hits off of losing pitcher Steve Patterson.

Winner Dennis Rogowski was tagged for eight runs in the fifth inning and had his problems with Marty Lonozo who homered and collected three singles. Rick Pittman had a single and a double, while Tom Davis wasted a single and double.

In other Class A action, Studio Lounge crushed Rich's Raiders 15-3 as Jerry Dehee, Mark Friar, Steve Chilenko and Andy Coppola all checked in with three hits for the winners. Tim Kelly, the winning pitcher, needed only five innings (game was called because of the 'mercy rule') to chalk up his third win of the season.

Kelly gave up two hits apiece to Bob Morin and Bill Sturgis while Brian McKay and Bob Tomasowski each laced run-scoring doubles.

In one of the finer defensive duels of the young campaign, Joe Thomas edged Frankies 7-3 as Tom Battistone blasted a pair of roundtrippers. Mark Morgan and Wayne Hamilton also each had two hits for the winners off of loser Darryl Gunner.

Joe Thomas got on the scoreboard with three runs in the first inning, but Frankies, behind Jerry Knoph and Ron Bostwick came back with two of their three runs in the second. However, Thomas' 3-run fifth finished off its rivals. Knoph and Bostwick each had two hits while Dan Amann knocked in a run with his double.

Over in Class B, Master photo erupted for 10 runs in the bottom of the second and shut out R.H. M., 18-0 as Don Staples received credit for the near perfect game. Kevin Cezdecki and Loni Hines were the only players to get hits off of staples who received ample backing from Dave Ardelean who missed hitting for the cycle when he didn't get a homer. Ron Staples, Don's brother, contributed a homer, double and single and also knocked in three runs.

Don helped his own cause with a two-run homer.

Newburgh Station was in control all the way as it humbled the Westland Stars 14-2. Bill Coleman was in control all the way but gave up two doubles to Joe Groke and singles to Dave Gunderson and Gary James.

Tim Kolnitys, Bill Cruse and Greg Nagle each had two hits for the winners. Kurt Kasfen was charged with the loss.

In another lopsided "B" affair, Bray's had four three-run innings in its route of Pour Devils, 12-1. Keith Trudell, Gray Mason and Mark Gride each homered off of loser Bob Williams who also served up four hits, including a triple to Rich Lebert.

Wrong way?

It would appear that one of these drivers didn't know the way to go during the Grand Prix racing competitions staged in Detroit on Sunday. However, driver Bill King, out of Raleigh, North Carolina, had his share of problems during the finals when his car sped out of control and hit the wall and made a 180 degree turn. The caution flag went up...and no one was injured in this thriller.

Flat Rock to play host to Little League teams

Though the rains may have washed away the Flat Rock Speedway Autograph Night originally scheduled for May 22, photo buffs, glad handers and signature seekers fear not. For Flat Rock officials have combined Autograph Night and the upcoming Little League Night for Saturday, June 19. Everyone in attendance at the Speedway on Saturday night, June 19, will be given the opportunity to step out onto the 1/4-mile asphalt oval and meet, take photos of and converse with Flat Rock Speedway late model, figure-8 and street stock drivers. It also gives fans the chance to observe, up close, the motorized machines which flash around the Speedway every Saturday night.

But there's something special to excite little leaguers and seasoned race fans alike. All uniformed little leaguers aged 6-12 and accompanied by a full-paid adult will be admitted for the evening's racing program free. In addition, the first 500 uniformed little leaguers through the front gate will receive a free box of popcorn and small soft drink, courtesy of L&L Concessions.

The experienced race fan needs no introduction to Joe Ruttman and Mark Martin. The news is that both will be on hand at Flat Rock Speedway for the June 19 activities. Ruttman, who drove many a lap on the Flat Rock oval in the early 1970s and drove the car which carried the camera which televised on-track action in this year's Daytona 500, and Martin, one of the most promising young talents on the NASCAR Grand National tour at 23 years of age, will both take time from their NASCAR driving duties at Michigan International Speedway that same weekend to be at Flat Rock.

The important times to remember for Flat Rock Speedway Little League and Autograph Night are: gates open, 6:00 p.m.; time trials, 6:15; autograph session, 7:30; and racing, 8 p.m. The race fan in attendance June 19 will incur NO increase in admission for the regular program of late model, figure-8 and street stock racing. SPEEDWAY LOCATION: 1 mi. s. of Flat Rock on U.S. 24 (Telegraph Rd.).

Van Buren offers tennis lessons

If you want to brush up on or improve your tennis game, the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department is offering residents tennis lessons. The lessons, to be held on courts located on Quirk Rd., will be conducted from 6:30 p.m. until 8 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. Keith Carnahan is the instructor. There is a $20 per person registration fee. Lessons will begin on June 15. To register or receive further information, please contact Carnahan at 699-2001.

They're champs

Wearing two crowns for their efforts in the Wayne Recreation Women's Volleyball League is Extra Point Bar which wrapped up the regular season championship, then went on to capture the playoff title. Members of the team include Janey Hargrove (front row, from left), Barbara Nimens, Jim Goosby, who is the sponsor and owner of Extra Point Bar and Terri Richardson; second row are team members Diana Richardson, Gaye Kehr, Sue Richardson, and Ester Sigler.

The Lions & The Sword and Bob's Place turned to their defense and when it was all over the Lions had a narrow 4-3 victory over pitcher Al Hibsby. The winners scored one in the second and seventh innings after the two teams exchanged two runs in the opening frame.

Tom McCleod homered for the losers while teammate Mike Griggs collected three hits, including a triple. Packing the winners were Dave Robertson and Jim Varney who each had two hits while John Smith came through with a run-scoring single.

Rocco's put together a 15-hit assault to hand pitcher Bob Lulek and Flooring Unlimited an 8-4 setback. Rocco's exploded for five runs in the opening inning and hung on after Flooring came back for three big ones in the fourth.

Bob DiPloch latched on to four singles, and Mark Koss had three for the winners while winning pitcher Mark Saia gave up a double and single to Dennis Shields.

Silverman's had no trouble putting Rizzo's away 15-3 as the game was called after five due to the "mercy rule." Don Dumouchelle is back in the hitting groove as he knocked in three runs, tripled and had a pair of singles. Teammates Bob Russ and Chuck Ruthig also were hot.

Ruthig scored three times while Russ had a pair of singles that accounted for two runs.

Rizzo's Bill Utsler knocked in one run with two singles and Jim Taylor made his base hit count as a RBI.

Newburgh Station found itself on the short end of a 6-4 count as Jake's Corky Hayes saw his teammates rally for two runs in the eighth to break a 4-all deadlock.

Don Muncie singled and tripled while Ron Randolph had a couple of hits for the winners. Loser Ernie Righetti was staked to three runs in the first inning, but he failed to hang on. Ed Zielke led the losers with two singles.

Great Lakes was great in its outing against Bob Hildway as Bill Lloyd and Gary Knapp each drilled three hits to lead the winners to a 14-1 rout over Bob's Hide-away. Gary Bonman, the winning pitcher, gave up a run-scoring triple to Tom Ringwald.

The Varsity Club rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to edge Field Testers 10-8.

The Army College Fund is designed to help you get that money for college while serving your country.

If you qualify, you can join the Army College Fund when you join the Army. For every dollar you put in, Uncle Sam puts in five. Or more.

So, after just two years in the Army, you can have up to $15,200 for college. After three years, up to $20,100.

Call for your free copy of the Army College Fund booklet. It could be the most important book you've ever read. Call toll free 800-423-3673. In California, 800-282-5864.
